Among those offices provided by the Constitution of the State of Ohio within the executive branch of government is that of Governor. The Governor is chosen by the electors of the state to serve for four years and cannot hold office for a period longer than two successive terms of four years each. In the words of the Constitution, "The supreme executive power of this State shall be vested in the Governor." The Constitution goes on to define the Governor's duties and responsibilities:

- To see that the laws are faithfully executed.
- To require information in writing from the officers of the executive department upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices.
- To communicate to the General Assembly by message at every session the condition of the state, and recommend such extraordinary sessions of the General Assembly by proclamation and determine the business to be transacted thereat.
- To convene extraordinary sessions of the General Assembly by proclamation and determine the business to be transacted thereat.
- To adjourn the General Assembly in case of disagreement between the two houses with respect to the time of adjournment.
- To act as commander-in-chief of the military and naval forces of the state.
- To grant reprieves, commutations and pardons except in cases of treason and impeachment.

In addition to the responsibilities enumerated above, the Governor serves at the head executive branch which consists of 24 cabinet level agencies. The directors of each of cabinet agencies are appointed by and serve at the pleasure of the Governor. In addition to the cabinet level agencies, the Governor issues appointments to most of the boards and commissions created by statute.

The office of Lieutenant Governor was provided for by a Constitutional amendment in 1851.

The Lieutenant Governor is elected every four years, jointly with the Governor, and holds his or her office for four years. The Lieutenant Governor is a member of the Governor's cabinet and presides at its meetings in the absence of the Governor.

The Governor may appoint the Lieutenant Governor as his or her representative on any board, agency, committee or commission of which the Governor is a member and has the authority to appoint a representative; or in an advisory capacity to any non-elective board, agency, committee or commission in the executive department; or give the Lieutenant Governor any special assignment he or she considers to be in the interest of the state.

In case of the death, impeachment, resignation, removal or other disability of the Governor, the powers and duties of the office devolve upon the Lieutenant Governor for the remainder of the term, or until the Governor is acquitted or the disability removed.

Ohio Attorney General
Richard Cordray

30 E. Broad Street, 17th Floor
Columbus, OH 43215

(614) 466-4320
www.OhioAttorneyGeneral.gov

The Ohio Attorney General's office has three primary duties:

Citizen Protection

We protect and assist consumers by strictly enforcing Ohio's consumer protection laws, and we ensure that businesses comply with the law and treat their customers fairly. We aggressively defend consumers from predatory lending and "gotcha" tactics. The Ohio Attorney General offers help, education and advocacy for consumers and crime victims, with special emphasis on vulnerable people such as children and the elderly. We also offer free legal help and other services to veterans and their families. Following are some examples:

- Identity Theft Verification Passport works with law enforcement agencies to help victims of identity theft restore their credit. To learn more call (888) MY-ID-4-ME.
- VINE Ohio provides automated notification when an incarcerated offenders' status has changed. To learn more, call (800) 770-0192 or visit www.VINELink.com.
- To assist police with a tip, or to find out how to protect your home, identity or wallet, contact the Help Center at (800) 282-0515 or visit www.SpeakOutOhio.gov.

Law Enforcement

We support law enforcement efforts by assisting local law enforcement, training peace officers and serving as special prosecutors in some criminal cases. We ensure that law enforcement officials have the cutting-edge tools needed to combat crime effectively, and we assist them in rooting out those white-collar criminals who prey on the weak and injure the state's bottom line.

- Ohio Bureau of Criminal Identification & Investigation (BCI): Scientists and forensic specialists analyze DNA, ballistics and other physical evidence to help law enforcement agencies solve crimes.
- Ohio Law Enforcement Gateway (OHLEG): An electronic criminal justice information network.
- Ohio Peace Officers Training Academy (OPOTA): Trains new and existing peace officers in the state.

Promoting Accountability

We promote accountability by giving legal advice to governments and championing Ohio's strong public records laws.

- Collections: We help collect delinquent debts owed to the state of Ohio. Our safe and reliable Pay Online service allows citizens to pay outstanding debts online.
- Public Records: We conduct ongoing training to teach public officials and citizens about the Ohio Public Records and Open Meetings laws.
- Legal Services: We provide formal, written opinions to the General Assembly, agencies, boards, commissions and departments of the state government.

We also have many antitrust attorneys who work to foster competition in the marketplace by enforcing state and federal antitrust laws.

Auditor of State

Columbus, OH 43216-1140

(614) 466-4514 Fax: (614) 466-4490
www.auditor.state.oh.us

The Auditor of State is a constitutional officer responsible for auditing all public offices in Ohio including cities and villages, schools and universities, counties and townships, as well as the many departments, agencies and commissions of state government. The office audits over 5,600 entities and performs more than 3,400 audits each year.

The Auditor of State oversees approximately 700 auditors who perform financial audits of all public entities as required by Ohio Revised Code Chapter 117. Generally, these audits, which occur at least once every two years, entail a review of the methods, accuracy, and legality of accounts, financial reports, records and files of public entities in addition to a review to ascertain compliance with the laws, rules ordinances and orders pertaining to the office.

The offices of the Auditor of State are distributed into nine regions (eight geographic regions and one responsible for state audits). Each regional office is supervised by a chief auditor. The regional organization allows the Auditor's office to provide better services to clients and helps minimize travel costs, and therefore audit costs, charged to clients.

The Local Government Services Division of the Auditor of State's office serves as a counseling and fiscal advisory group to all government agencies and subdivisions. The Local Government Services Division provides many types of assistance, including interpretation of any financial aspect of public programs under local jurisdiction, finance management training to newly elected officials and assistance in the development of efficient, compatible accounting systems for local government units.

The office of Auditor of State traces its origins to the time of the Northwest Territory, before Ohio was a state. The responsibilities encompassed within the office have continually increased from its inception in 1797, when the legislature of the territory established the position of auditor of public accounts, to assure the "legality and propriety" of territorial accounts. The position was continued under the constitution of 1803, through which the auditor was jointly elected by the legislature for a three-year term. The auditor was made an elective officer, serving a four-year term by vote of the people, under the current Ohio Constitution.

By law, the Auditor of State serves on a number of boards and commissions, such as the State Board of Deposit, State Apportionment Board and the Public Employees Deferred Compensation Board. The auditor is also the president of the Sinking Fund, which administers the constitutional debt of Ohio, and is supervisor of school and ministerial lands, which were given to Ohio by Congress many years ago.

The Office of the Secretary of State, as provided in the original Ohio Constitution of 1802, was an appointive office. It has been an elective office since the adoption of the Ohio Constitution of 1851.

The Secretary of State serves as Ohio's chief elections officer and administrator of public records. Specifically, the Secretary of State's office records, documents and grants corporate charters, articles of incorporation and other corporate identity transactions to entities seeking to do business in Ohio. It also maintains records of secured commercial transactions carried out in the state. The Secretary of State also appoints, trains and advises all members of the 88 county boards of elections, as well as prepares the rules and instructions regarding all elections. The Secretary of State supervises the official activities of the boards and casts the deciding vote, when the members of a bipartisan board of elections are equally divided on a question or motion. The agency also creates and carries out voter registration, participation and civic involvement campaigns throughout the state. In 2001, the Ohio Notary Commission also came under the direction of the secretary.

The Secretary of State is a member of the Apportionment Board, which is responsible for the apportionment of the state for the purpose of electing members of the General Assembly.

The Secretary of State is an ex-officio member of the Sinking Fund Commission and serves as its secretary. The commission is responsible for administering the state's constitutional debt.

The Secretary of State also is a member of the Ohio Public Facilities Commission, which administers the state's bond programs to fund capital improvements for higher education, mental health and parks facilities.

In addition to the above mentioned duties, the Secretary of State also is charged with the safekeeping of all laws and resolutions passed by the General Assembly, countersigning and filing all commissions issued by the governor (except those of notaries public), and publishing the laws enacted by each General Assembly. By law, it also publishes rosters of elected and appointed officials, and elections statistical information.

The Secretary of State's office, through the Information Technology Division, maintains election and corporate public records for Ohio. The division compiles those records and, upon request, makes them available to the public through a web based FTP site or CD Rom media. Election results, broken down by precinct, may be requested from the Elections Division as well.

Business Services Division

Corporations (877) 767-3453

Ohio law requires all corporations, both profit and nonprofit, to file articles of incorporation in the office of the Secretary of State. Subsequent amendments to the articles, such as changes in the number of authorized shares of stock, must also be filed with the office. Foreign corporations doing business within the state must apply to the Secretary of State for a license. If the license application is in order, the Secretary of State grants the foreign corporation a certificate of authority to transact business in Ohio. Limited liability companies, limited partnerships and limited liability partnerships, whether domestic or foreign, must also register with the Secretary of State.

In addition to granting corporate charters and registrations to companies seeking to conduct business in Ohio, the Business Services Division also approves mergers, consolidations, conversions and dissolutions of those businesses, in addition to registering trademarks, service marks, trade names and fictitious names.

Uniform Commercial Code (614) 466-3623

Ohio Revised Code Chapter 1309 designates the Secretary of State as the central filing office for all secured transactions except where the collateral involved is timber, mineral receivables, or fixtures. The Uniform Commercial Code requires that financing statements be filed with the Secretary of State to perfect a security interest in a debtor's collateral, which was used to obtain a loan. The Uniform Commercial Code provides for the filing of continuation statements, which renew financing statements that generally have a statutory life of five years, assignments and partial releases of collateral, and termination statements.

Elections Division (614) 466-2585

The Secretary of State's Elections Division prepares rules and instructions for conducting elections, prescribes forms for voter registration, petitions and ballots, approves ballot language, prepares the ballot title for all laws or amendments to the Constitution to be submitted to Ohio voters, as well as assists in the investigation of election irregularities, and prepares and provides training for board of elections members and staff.

All declarations of candidacy or nominating petitions for statewide office and all statewide initiative and referendum petitions are filed with the Secretary of State. The votes cast for all candidates for elective state office and U.S. Senate, as well as the votes on all statewide issues, are canvassed in the division.

The division also reports elections statistics and voter registration information.

Campaign Finance Division (614) 466-3111

The Secretary of State's Campaign Finance Division oversees reports relating to the state offices, state political parties and statewide political action committees. Copies of the General Assembly candidate reports are also filed with the division.

The Voting Rights Institute (614) 995-1619

www.sos.state.oh.us/sos/initiatives/votingrights.aspx

The Voting Rights Institute acts in an ombuds capacity working with a variety of constituency groups, as well as the voters, to create a standard reporting system of voter concerns or issues, create innovative programs to educate the community and ultimately increase participation and electoral confidence. To accomplish the goals of the Institute and office of Secretary of State, the VRI has assembled an Advisory Council consisting of some of the state's most experienced, dedicated and diverse voter advocacy groups and individuals. The Council also includes national representation and Ohio elections administrators. The Council advises the Institute and office in all aspects of voting in Ohio and will assist in outreach efforts and statewide program initiatives. The VRI also assesses a variety of state initiatives as it relates to voting and publish reports on voting participation in Ohio. For information on voter registration or to obtain voter registration forms, please contact Voter Services at (614) 995-2271.

Treasurer of State
Kevin L. Boyce

James A. Rhodes State Office Tower, 30 E. Broad Street, 9th Floor
Columbus, OH 43215

(614) 466-2160 Fax: (614) 644-7313
www.ohiotreasurer.gov

The role of the Treasurer of State is to strategically invest and protect Ohio's public assets.

Approximately $17 billion in state revenue is safeguarded by the Ohio Treasury, including payments to the state for taxes, fees and licenses authorized by the Ohio General Assembly. The Treasurer's Office manages the state's investment and lottery portfolios as well as the STAR Ohio program, which pools the investments of local governments and school districts for greater safety and larger returns. The Treasurer's Office also works closely as a limited partner with local public funds managers, small businesses, farmers, local government officials, and banks.

Kevin Boyce is Ohio's 47th State Treasurer. He was sworn into office January 8, 2009.

The Treasurer is custodian of assets for the following:

- Bureau of Worker's Compensation
- Highway Patrol Retirement System
- Ohio Lottery Commission
- Ohio Tuition Trust Authority
- Police and Fire Disability and Pension Fund
- Public Employees Retirement System
- State Teachers Retirement System
- School Employees Retirement System

The Treasurer appoints investment managers and custodians:

- The Southern Ohio Agriculture Commission
- The Tobacco Use Prevention and Control Board

The Treasurer also serves in various other capacities:

- Chairman of the State Board of Deposit
- Commissioner of the Sinking Fund Commission
- Treasurer of the Ohio Public Facilities Commission
- Issuer of debt for numerous state agencies

The Treasury contains 11 departments:

Administration: Responsible for office accounting, administration, support services, legislation, communications, human resources and data processing.

Banking: Monitors policies, processes, and billings in compliance with bank agreements.

Trust: The Trust Department is comprised of two divisions: The Compliance Division and the Trust Operations Division. The Compliance Division oversees the safekeeping of investments for the following funds, all of which are in the custody of the Treasurer: Bureau of Workers' Compensation; Ohio Tuition Trust Authority; State Teachers Retirement System; Public Employees Retirement System; Police and Fire Pension Fund; State Highway Patrol Retirement Fund; School Employees Retirement System; Tobacco Use Prevention and Control Endowment Fund; and the Southern Ohio Agricultural and Community Development Fund. Trust compliance analysts also monitor custodial banks to ensure they are in compliance with State Depository agreement as it relates to custody services. In addition, they monitor securities-lending agents appointed by the Treasurer to ensure they are in compliance with the Treasurer's policies.

Investment: Manages the state's multi-billion dollar investment portfolio and the portfolios owned by STAR Ohio investors and the Ohio Lottery Commission. To invest funds, the treasury determines each portfolio's daily-cash availability and immediately invests such funds for maximum return.

Economic Development: A newly created division of the investment department under Treasurer Kevin Boyce. Partners with community banking institutions to provide farmers and small business owners reduced-rate loans using the Treasurer's Linked Deposit authority.

Debt Management: Configures bond issues, appoints financial advisors, and redeems debt.

Revenue: Collects and processes all taxes, licenses, and permit fees. Prepares receipts for deposit into the state's banking accounts.

Chief Legal Counsel: Responsible for Custodial Functions, Legal Affairs, Legislative Affairs and Internal Audit activities for the Treasurer's Office.

Public Affairs: Responsible for the communication activities of the Treasurer's Office to provide timely information and transparency to the public.

Community Affairs: Outreach Representatives serve as the treasury's first line of contact for all local entities in a specific geographical region. Outreach representatives effectively promote the office's education programs, communicate policy decisions, successes in office, and assist in the scheduling and planning of local visits by the Treasurer. Additionally, representatives build strong relationships with local officeholders, business owners, civic leaders and constituents.

Community Education: Responsible for the various educational programs for the Treasurer's Office which include the legislated Center for Public Investment Management (CPIM), as well as the Women & Money program designed to educate women in money management matters.

The Treasury administers several programs to benefit Ohioans

Linked Deposits for Agriculture and Small Business

The Treasury partners with eligible local banks to boost economic development by purchasing reduced-rate certificates of deposit (CDs). Lenders pass along the interest rate to qualified farmers and entrepreneurs in the form of lower-interest loans.

Center for Public Investment Management (CPIM)

The Treasury provides annual training for local public funds managers focusing on how to safely, ethically and effectively handle resources. Classes are mandated by the state.

State Treasury Asset Reserve of Ohio (STAR Ohio)

STAR Ohio, an AAA-rated fund managed by the Treasury, is an investment pool through which local governments' deposits can earn more dividends by being invested collectively.

Bid Ohio

Eligible banks compete for a portion of state deposits by bidding online. Certificates of deposit (CDs) are purchased based on the highest interest rates offered, giving banks more money to work with locally and yield the state higher short-term returns.

Teachers Training Academies

In partnership with the Ohio Department of Education, the Treasury is offers continuing-education courses to educators to prepare them to teach financial literacy, a new requirement of Ohio's Core Curriculum that will take effect in 2010. These classes began in summer 2007 and allow schools to implement a personal finance curriculum three years ahead of schedule.

Women and Money

The Treasury works with Community Financial Education, a non-profit organization, to offer several free education programs for women of all ages and income levels to assist them with financial planning in order to provide economic security.

Adjutant General

2825 W. Dublin-Granville Rd.
Columbus, OH 43235

(614) 336-7070 Fax: (614) 336-7410
http://ong.ohio.gov

The Adjutant General is the administrative head of the state's military forces (the Governor is the commander-in-chief.) This department is responsible for administering the organized militia, consisting of the Ohio Army National Guard, Air National Guard, Military Reserve, and Naval Militia. The Army National Guard consists of over 11,500 Soldiers and operates 52 armories housing various brigades, companies or detachments, 20 field maintenance shops, and two unit training equipment sites. The Air National Guard has over 5,000 Airmen and operates flying bases at Columbus-Rickenbacker (18 KC-135R), Mansfield-Lahm (8 C-130s), Springfield-Beckley (16 F-16s, including a current mission to train Dutch F-16 pilots) and Toledo (18 F-16s) airports, plus a combat communications group, combat communications squadron, two tactical control squadrons, an engineering installation squadron, and a civil engineering squadron.

The militia are state forces, and the Governor is solely empowered to call upon them to aid in executing the laws, suppressing insurrection, repelling invasion, to act in the event of a disaster, or to promote the health, safety and welfare of Ohioans. The Army and Air National Guard are also reserve components of the federal armed services and may be called by the President to active duty under federal control for the war-fighting mission. In either case, the concept is that of citizen soldiers and airmen called to active service in time of need. In their dual capacity as state forces and federal reserves, members of the Ohio National Guard are subject to both state and federal laws. The Adjutant General's Department's State General Revenue Fund budget is approximately $13 million each year of this biennium, and will receive over $400 million each year in federal funding.

Pursuant to federal law and regulations, the Adjutant General issues regulations governing the Ohio organized militia, and is the appointing and removal authority for active guard and reserve soldiers and airmen, state employees of the department, and federal technicians.

The Ohio Department of Administrative Services is committed to providing quality centralized services, specialized support and innovative solutions to state agencies, boards and commissions, as well as to local governments and state universities.

Below is a more detailed description of DAS services:

Central Service Agency

The Central Service Agency provides payroll, administrative and financial services for state professional licensing boards specified in the revised code and for other boards and commissions that do not possess the expertise or staff to perform these functions.

Equal Opportunity Division

The Equal Opportunity Division provides assistance to state agencies to ensure equal access to state employment and contracting opportunities. The division includes the Equal Employment Opportunity/ Affirmative Action Unit, which monitors equal employment opportunity and employment goals to ensure that state employees and job applicants are afforded equal access and opportunities for employment and advancement throughout state government. The Certification Unit certifies businesses for participation in the Encouraging Diversity, Growth and Equity (EDGE) and Minority Business Enterprise (MBE) programs. EDGE is a business development program for socially and disadvantaged businesses. The MBE program assists minority businesses in obtaining state contracts through a set-aside procurement program for goods and services. The Construction Compliance Unit ensures that contractors on state construction projects comply with equal employment opportunity and affirmative action laws and regulations. The Minority Affairs Unit serves as the liaison to the Governor's Ohio Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Holiday Commission and promotes intercultural understanding.

General Services Division

The General Services Division performs a variety of functions through its seven offices. The Office of the State Architect manages state construction projects and obtains design and construction services for state agencies, colleges and universities. The Office of Procurement Services assists state agencies with the procurement of supplies and services through competitive selection and negotiated contracts. The benefit of state contract pricing is extended to participating political subdivisions through the Cooperative Purchasing program. The Office of State Printing and Mail Services provides printing and mail services. The Office of Risk Management administers the state's vehicle liability, property and casualty insurance and bonding programs. The Office of Properties and Facilities provides centralized property management services and operates the federal and state surplus property programs. The Office of Fleet Management provides comprehensive motor vehicle management services. The Office of Asset Management Services oversees a state asset management program for agencies to maintain and report their assets.

Human Resources Division

The Human Resources Division provides services to help state agencies conduct their personnel functions. The Office of Benefits Administration Services oversees health benefits and manages disability, workers' compensation and occupational injury leave cases. The functions of the division's Business Office include overseeing tuition reimbursement and Exempt Professional Development Program transactions. The Office of Classification and Compensation administers the classification system and provides training, consultation, recruitment and testing services for state agencies, employees and applicants. The Human Resources Support Center processes personnel actions, maintains certification and layoff lists, coordinates the Drug-Free Workplace Services Program, administers centralized civil service examinations, tests for applicant proficiency and maintains archived personnel records. The Office of Information Resources coordinates special projects such as conferences and roundtables for state human resources professionals. The Office of Payroll Administration processes the state's payroll, garnishments and vendor payments. The Office of Policy Development creates model human resources polices and advises state agencies regarding the application of employment laws and regulations. The Office of Training and Development provides employee training and organizational development for state agencies.

Office of Collective Bargaining

The Office of Collective Bargaining represents state agencies, boards and commissions in all aspects of collective bargaining, providing a central body of expertise in negotiations and administration of the state's collective bargaining agreements. The office is responsible for the development and administration of the state's labor relations policies to help agencies and their respective employees provide high quality state government services in an environment that promotes labor-management cooperation.

Ohio Office of Information Technology

The Ohio Office of Information Technology, is led by the state chief information officer who reports to the Director of DAS. The office consists of the divisions of Investment and Governance and Infrastructure Services as well as Digital Government. The Investment and Governance Division provides enterprise-wide structure for the management of information technology procurement, policy, standards, architecture, planning, project management and application portfolio management to support state agencies, boards and commissions in their acquisition and use of information technology. The Infrastructure Services Division provides support to the state infrastructure through effective information technology business concepts, building information infrastructure, mitigating risk, and establishing shared services functions and voice and data communication. Digital Government oversees the Ohio portal and Ohio Business Gateway, which allows businesses to conduct electronic transactions with multiple state agencies.

The Quality Support Division provides PASSPORT, an in-home alternative to nursing home care for low-income seniors. These alternative services include adult daycare; coordination of services, home-delivered meals; help with household chores; medical equipment/supplies; personal care; minor home repairs; occupational, physical and speech therapies, respite care (for caregivers); social work/counseling; and transportation.

The Elder Rights Long-Term Care Ombudsman office is the "voice" for consumers of long-term care services. Ombudsmen serve as mediators between clients and service providers, a source of education and information, and advocates for consumer rights and needed improvements.

The Planning Development and Evaluation Division serves as a liaison between the area agencies on aging and the Ohio Department of Aging (ODA) in the areas of home-delivered meals, Alzheimer's disease programs, energy assistance, housing options, nutrition education and congregate meal service, senior volunteer programs, and transportation services.

The General Counsel, together with the legislative liaison, reviews all state and federal legislation pertaining to the well-being of older Ohioans and acts as a liaison between ODA, aging advocacy groups and lawmakers.

The Communications Division publicizes the programs and services of the department among older Ohioans and the general public. It maintains liaison with media and publishes: "Aging Connection", a monthly newsletter to aging professionals and members of the General Assembly; and "Finer With Age", the Ohio Department of Aging's monthly television show, which airs on more than 40 cable public access channels and public broadcasting stations statewide.

The Department of Aging honors the commitments and achievements of the states' seniors through a series of special events.

On Valentine's Day, First Lady Frances Strickland hosts "Joined Hearts in Giving" to honor couples who have been married 40 years or longer and share a commitment to others and their communities by volunteering.

Each May, during Older Americans Month, exceptional seniors are inducted into the Ohio Senior Citizens Hall, and the agency also recognize Elder Caregivers of the Year at the same time.

The Golden Buckeye Card program is honored at 18,000 businesses statewide and provides cardholders with savings on dining, entertainment, groceries, hardware, services and more. The Golden Buckeye Prescription Drug Savings Program provides significant savings on medicines at most Ohio pharmacies. The card is available to Ohioans age 60 or better, or are age 18 - 59 and have a Medicare-certified disability.

The Information Systems Division supports, consults and coordinates computer systems for ODA, area agencies on aging and specific aging-related programs.

The Fiscal Management Division oversees the distribution of program funding and grants, accounting, purchasing, and inventory control.

The Employee Services Division is responsible for staff development and growth, labor contract negotiations and enforcing Equal Employment Opportunity policies.

The Ohio Advisory Council for Aging serves in an advisory role for the Department of Aging and its director. All 12 council members are appointed by the Governor. Most members are over 60, and all have knowledge and interest in the welfare of Ohio's older citizens.

Department of Agriculture

8995 E. Main St.
Reynoldsburg, OH 43068

(614) 728-6201 Fax: (614) 728-6310
agri@agri.ohio.gov www.agri.ohio.gov

The Ohio Department of Agriculture (ODA) was first established on February 27, 1846, and continues its operations today as the second oldest department in Ohio government.

The department serves in the administrative branch of state government responsible for the enforcement of state laws and regulations pertinent to the manufacturing, processing, labeling, advertising, and selling of commodities the farmer uses in crop and livestock production; the production, processing, packing, labeling, and sanitary condition of foods, carbonated and still beverages, drugs, cosmetics, meat, and meat products for public consumption; the control of diseases of livestock, poultry, field crops, and honey bees; regulatory oversight of large livestock and poultry farms; regulatory supervision of grain warehouses and dealers; inspection and organization of county and independent fairs; and custodian of the Primary Weights and Measures Standards in Ohio.

By virtue of the office, the director of the Ohio Department of Agriculture is the state Sealer of Weights and Measures. He or she is also an ex-officio member of the:

- Ohio Exposition Commission
- Ohio Soil and Water Conservation Commission
- Ohio Agriculture Research and Development Center Board of Control
- Ohio Sewer and Water Commission
- Governor's Commission on Interstate Cooperation
- Ohio Agricultural Financing Commission
- Ohio Interagency Pesticide Advisory Council

The director is empowered to make rules and regulations regarding all aspects of statutory duties concerning agriculture and consumer protection, the conduct of county and independent fairs and departmental procedures. To facilitate administrative procedures, the department's workload is apportioned among the following divisions and programs:

The Division of Administration is devoted to personnel management, fiscal, investigation, legal, legislation, Agriculture Financing Commission, labor relations, and communications for the benefit of all other divisions within the department. The Division of Administration is also responsible for the coordination and supervision of all activities of the department.

The Division of Amusement Ride Safety inspects and licenses all amusement rides operated in Ohio, including permanent parks, water parks, county and independent fairs, and festivals. The division also licenses and inspects games at the county and independent fairs.

The Division of Animal Industry is primarily concerned with the control of diseases among livestock and poultry. Procedures employed in this field must be sufficiently flexible to cope with the occurrence of established diseases, which may become epidemic, and with new diseases which are, or may be, periodically discovered. These procedures must function continuously within the limits of prescribed legal authority. The purpose is to protect a valuable source of food, the producer, and the consumer.

The Consumer Analytical Laboratory provides essential analytical support to nearly all ODA divisions. Additionally, the lab performs similar functions for other agencies, including the Ohio Department of Health, the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, and the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Chemists, bacteriologists and technicians from the division coordinate and conduct laboratory tests on foods and agricultural commodities regulated by other divisions with ODA. Test results are relayed to the appropriate division for follow up.

The Dairy Division is responsible for providing inspections to help assure the safety and wholesomeness of all milk products produced in Ohio. The division administers and enforces the Ohio dairy laws contained in Chapter 917 of the Ohio Revised Code.

The Enforcement Division supports ODA's regulatory divisions through the investigation of incidents of noncompliance. By working closely with ODA field inspectors from each of the other divisions, enforcement officers help bring companies into compliance with their regulatory responsibilities once other avenues have failed. This often includes collecting evidence to be used in a court of law. The division also administers the Auctioneers Program, which helps assure auctioneers are licensed and acting in accordance with the law.

The Office of Farmland Preservation helps educate the public about preserving farmland, one of Ohio's most precious resources, and helps farmers and local officials with their farmland protection efforts.

The Division of Food Safety laws that are designed to help safeguard the public against unsanitary production, adulteration, false advertising, illegal labeling, and fraud incidental to the preparation, handling, packaging, storage, transportation, refrigeration, spoilage, and other hazards connected with the merchandising of foods, dairy products, beverages, and drugs. It also grades fresh fruits and vegetables to provide a certified quality for such commodities. It enforces the laws and regulations that require labels to accurately state the quantity and quality of such commodities in packages.

The Livestock Environmental Permitting Program helps assure that Ohio's large-scale livestock and poultry farms are operating in an environmentally safe manner.

The Marketing Division is responsible for the domestic and international marketing of Ohio agricultural products in order to enhance the quality of lives for rural Ohioans by providing employment opportunities. The division works cooperatively with several of Ohio's commodity organizations to conduct their marketing programs and is responsible for public information and communication regarding agricultural issues. The Ohio Grape Industries Program oversees spending for promotional and research initiatives for the grape and wine industries, as agreed upon by the Ohio Grape Industries Committee. The state agriculture director serves as chairman of the nine-member committee, whose activities are funded from a portion of the excise tax on the sale of wine in Ohio.

The Division of Meat Inspection is responsible for administering the Ohio Meat Law in such a manner as to help assure state inspected plants conform to the provisions of the Wholesome Meat Act . The objective of meat inspection programs is to help assure that meat and poultry products are wholesome, unadulterated, and properly labeled.

The Ohio Rural Development Partnership office, administered in cooperation with ODA, is a statewide organization that brings together citizens, community-based organizations, representatives of the private sector, and federal, state, and local officials to address the needs of rural Ohio communities.

The Division of Plant Industry is charged with the responsibility of enforcing Ohio laws regulating the processing, labeling, analysis, and sale of fertilizers, livestock, and poultry feedstuffs, agricultural liming materials, pesticides, and agricultural and vegetable seed. Included also is the obligation to suppress honey bee diseases and to inspect pests and plant diseases injurious to agricultural, horticultural, ornamental, and forestry crops. The Grain Warehouse Section of this division is devoted to the licensing of grain handlers and the enforcement of regulations regarding the Commodity Handlers law. It also oversees an indemnity fund that reimburses farmers when a licensed elevator insolvency occurs.

The Division of Weights & Measures administers and enforces laws pertaining to weights and measures. The program is based on the premise that any system of selling commodities of any type is founded on accurate weights and measures in order to protect both the buyer and seller. Departmental weights and measures officials work hand-in-hand with local officials to constantly check and recheck weighing and measuring devices used throughout the state.

Ohio Department of Alcohol and Drug Addiction Services

280 N. High St., 12th Floor
Columbus, OH 43215

(614) 752-8359 fax: (614) 728-4936
brunton@ada.ohio.gov

The Ohio Department of Alcohol and Drug Addiction Services (ODADAS) was created October 10, 1989, in accordance with Chapter 3793 of the Ohio Revised Code (OCR). The department plans, initiates and coordinates a comprehensive system of alcohol and other drug addiction services designed to prevent abuse and treat Ohio's addicted populations. As one of only eight states in the nation to address the issue of substance abuse at the cabinet level, the department coordinates its services with other state agencies, the criminal justice system, law enforcement, the legislature, local agencies and treatment/prevention professionals throughout the state.

The mission of the Department is a commitment to making alcohol and other drug abuse treatment and prevention services available to those Ohioans in need. ODADAS is the catalyst of commitment and collaboration among state departments, the criminal justice system, ADAMHS/ADAS boards, the courts, community leaders, professional counselors, teachers and families. A commitment from these resources to support the processes of treatment and prevention of substance abuse is essential for success.

ODADAS is a grant-in-aid agency which is required to implement a civil rights plan under state and federal rules and regulations based on Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964; Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973; Age Discrimination Act of 1975; Omnibus Budget Reconcilation Act of 1981 (if applicable); and the Americans With Disabilities Act of 1990.

The mission of the program is to monitor all aspects of the department's operation to ensure that no policy or practice is, or has the effect of discriminating against beneficiaries or other participants on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex (including sexual harassment and sexual orientation), age, religion or disability.

The department has a biennial budget of over $300 million. Sixty-three percent comes from federal grant dollars and 37 percent comes from state funds. The majority of the state funds come from general revenue funds and the balance from liquor profits, fees and driver's license reinstatement fees due to driving while intoxicated.

The department itself does not provide direct services to clients. ODADAS allocates its funding to 50 Alcohol, Drug Addiction and Mental Health Services (ADAMHS) Boards and Alcohol and Drug Addiction Services (ADAS) Boards. The Boards assess alcohol and drug addiction service needs, coordinates services and evaluates the performance for over 1,000 community programs.

Local boards work with community agencies to develop plans to provide needed services. Each board submits a community plan as its application for funding. ODADAS reviews the plans and assures compliance with state and federal regulations. The quality and effectiveness of services delivered by local programs are monitored and evaluated. Only those treatment programs certified by the department are eligible to receive ODADAS funds.

The Director's Office Includes a diverse staff of policy development, legislative services, legal counsel, and communications and Medicaid services. The office works closely with the Legislature, Governor's Office and general public.

Medicaid coverage of certain alcohol and other drug treatment services is authorized by an Interagency Agreement between the Ohio Department of Job and Family Services (ODJFS) and ODADAS. Ohio's Medicaid program covers the following services: ambulatory detoxification, assessment, case management, crisis intervention, group counseling, individual counseling, intensive outpatient, laboratory urinalysis, and medical somatic and methadone administration when provided to a Medicaid eligible consumer.

The Division of Quality Improvement develops standards established by rule in the Administrative Code to ensure quality and accountability in the provision of alcohol and drug treatment, methadone, driver intervention and prevention program services. The division is responsible for ensuring programs meet the requirements of the rules through an on-site review and develops guidelines and tools for improving the efficiency and effectiveness of the alcohol and drug service delivery system. The division also provides training on clinical issues and ongoing technical assistance on clinical and certification issues. Additionally, the division coordinates the investigation of complaints filed against providers.

The Division of Fiscal Services manages and oversees fiscal operations and represents the department on financial matters before the legislature, Controlling Board, OBM, other state agencies, local boards and service providers.

The Division of Human Resources develops and administers a comprehensive department-wide personnel program, which includes labor relations, personnel, equal employment opportunities and health and safety activities. The division issues payroll, fleet management, lease management and mailing functions.

The Division of Management Information Services (MIS) collects, maintains and reports on data for the department and its programs. MIS operations include: monitoring driver intervention programs, Multi Agency Community Shared Information System (MACSIS) internal information system support, Medicaid payments, conducting the Uniform Facility Data Set survey of all certified and funded programs and coordinating the Department's Long-Range Information Systems Plan.

The Division of Planning, Outcomes and Research is responsible for oversight of department strategic planning activities, needs assessment and outcome initiatives. The division oversees the federal SAPT block grant annual submission to the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration in the department's Five-Year Plan, develops community plan guidelines (board application for funds) and coordinates the board plan review and approval process. The division also coordinates the Synar activities to ensure compliance with federal regulations, coordinates the department's system –wide implementation on the ODADAS Outcome framework, and provides consultation, technical assistance and support to other department divisions, state agencies, boards and providers.

The Division of Treatment and Recovery Services consists of Treatment and Recovery Services, Justice Services and the Therapeutic Community (OASIS) at Pickaway Correctional. The division is responsible for the development, coordination and oversight of programs for treatment populations in Ohio. The programs include, women's gender-specific services, adolescents, substance-abuse/mental illness (SAMI), problem gambling, Treatment Alternatives to Street Crime (TASC), drug courts, therapeutic communities, HIV/AIDS early intervention, House Bill 484, housing etc.

The Treatment and Recovery Services Unit supports the efforts of Alcohol Drug Addiction services (ADAS) or Alcohol Drug Addiction and Mental Health Services (ADAMHS) Boards and certified treatment providers by providing technical assistance on treatment-related issues. The unit is comprised of five regional treatment and recovery services coordinators. Each regional coordinator serves as a "single point of contact" for boards and providers by brokering resources within ODADAS or through other strategic partners.

The Justice Services Unit exists to promote, develop and support effective treatment for offenders in the adult and juvenile justice systems of the State of Ohio. The unit carries out its work in close partnership with courts and other elements of the justice system at both the state and local levels. Key state level partners are the Supreme Court of Ohio, the Ohio Department of Rehabilitation and Correction, the Ohio Department of Youth Services, the Ohio Office of Criminal Justice Services and the Ohio Department of Mental Health. The unit advances proven methods of offender treatment with an emphasis on building and sustaining infrastructure through the provision of training, program modeling, technical assistance, and collaborative planning.

OASIS Therapeutic Community is a joint venture of the Ohio Department of Alcohol and Drug Addiction Services (ODADAS), the Ohio Department of Rehabilitation and Correction and the Pickaway Correctional Institution. The six-to-nine month program services minimum- to medium-security level male offenders. The therapeutic community methodology is one of the most successful prison-based interventions leading to reductions of in-prison violence, relapse, and re-incarceration. In addition, the Office of Therapeutic Communities provides technical assistance and professional trainings to more than 16 Therapeutic Communities in the State of Ohio.

The Division of Prevention Services is data-driven and outcome focused with an emphasis on systems development and continuous quality improvement. The division follows the Center for Substance Abuse Prevention (CSAP) prevention strategies, which include information dissemination, education, alternatives, problem ID and referral, community-based process and environmental, as well as the Institute of Medicine's (IOM) universal, selective and indicated definitions that describe the intended target population by level of risk regarding ATOD use. A primary focus for the division is to foster relationships with county ADAMH? ADAS boards and local prevention partners to build capacity at the local level. Regional Prevention Coordinators serve the statewide system by providing one-on-one technical assistance, prevention education, networking opportunities and other ATOD resources.

The Office of Budget and Management (OBM) serves the Governor by facilitating the fiscal operations of state government through developing, monitoring, coordinating, reviewing, and subsequent processing and reporting of the financial policies and activities of the state. The office is headed by a Director of who is appointed by the Governor with consent of the Senate. To accomplish its missions, the office is divided into five program areas:

Budget Development and Implementation

This area oversees the state's financial resources through preparation of the operating and capital budgets, coordination of state agencies expenditure activities, and management of state debt.

Controlling Board

Section 127.12 of the Revised Code establishes the Controlling Board as a body consisting of seven members: the Director of the Office of Budget and Management or an employee of the Office of Budget and Management designated by the Director of the Chairs of the Senate and House Finance Committees, a majority member appointed from both the Senate and the House, and a minority member appointed from both the Senate and the House. The Board can authorized certain changes to appropriations, and expenditures by state agencies.

Financial Accounting Services

This area manages the state's accounting operations and publishes the state's financial reports.

Office of Internal Audit

The Office of Internal Audit ("OIA") conducts internal audits within state agencies by bringing a systematic, disciplined approach to evaluate and improve the effectiveness of risk management, internal controls, and governance processes.

Ohio Shared Services

OOS supports agencies and other entities by completing financial transactions in a centralized and automated manner. OSS focuses on providing service by taking common support processes performed across agencies and merging, streamlining and automating them to better serve vendors and agencies

The Ohio Department of Commerce is one of the state's chief regulatory agencies. It enforces a variety of regulations that apply to: auctioneers, boilers, bedding and upholstered furniture, cemeteries, check cashing services, construction compliance, credit service organizations, elevators, financial institutions, insurance premium finance companies, investment advisers, liquor control, mortgage brokers, pawnbrokers, precious metals dealers, pressure piping, private investigators, real estate, real estate appraisers, second mortgage businesses, securities, security guards, small loan businesses, steam engineers, unclaimed funds, underground storage tanks and video service authorizations.

The Department of Commerce operates like a private business enterprise, recovering costs through fees and assessments for its services.

Division of Administration

The Division of Administration acts as a service entity to the entire department. Housed in the Division of Administration are the offices of human resources, information technology, fiscal, communications, legal counsel, legislative liaison, support services and video service authorization.

Division of Financial Institutions

The Division of Financial Institutions (DFI) regulates Ohio's state-chartered depository institutions and nondepository financial industries. The Division also regulates trust companies and licenses money transmitters. Examination, supervision and regulatory activities are performed by members of the Division's staff specializing in the operations of each specific industry. The Division's Office of Consumer Affairs educates Ohioans on ways to protect themselves in the mortgage-lending process, receives complaints against lenders, and refers borrowers to organizations that can provide assistance. Enforcement actions are initiated when lending laws have been violated, and cases can be referred for prosecution.

Division of Industrial Compliance

The Division of Industrial Compliance (DIC) is a diverse regulatory agency serving Ohio's citizens by reviewing building and construction plans, inspecting plumbing, electrical and structural systems, on-site inspections of elevators, boilers, and bedding and upholstered products. DIC has two bureaus: the Bureau of Building Code Compliance, which includes plumbing, backflow, welding and brazing, structural and electrical permit and plan approval sections; the Bureau of Operations and Maintenance houses the bedding, upholstered furniture and stuffed toy products, boiler operations and maintenance, and elevator inspection sections.

In addition, the Bureau of Operations and Maintenance provides for the licensing and/or registration of boiler contractors, boiler operators, steam engineers, boiler and elevator inspectors, ski/tramways, and roller rinks. DIC also provides administrative support for several regulatory and oversight boards, such as the Board of Building Standards, the Board of Building Appeals, the Ohio Construction Industry Licensing Board, Historical Boilers Licensing Board and the Ski-Tramway Board.

Division of Labor and Worker Safety

The Division administers and enforces Ohio's prevailing wage, minimum wage, overtime and minor labor laws. The state's prevailing wage law requires public authorities to pay the local prevailing rate of wages for work performed under public construction projects. The minimum wage law in Ohio sets state minimum wage rates, and Ohio's overtime law directs employers to pay 1 ½ times their regular pay rate for all hours worked in excess of 40 hours in a work week. The Division's field staff conducts routine inspections of workplaces statewide. The Division also educates employers and employees about their rights and responsibilities, administers labor laws with emphasis on employer compliance, investigates complaints, and consults with both employers and employees.

Division of Liquor Control

This Division is responsible for controlling the manufacture, distribution and sale of all alcoholic beverages in Ohio. The Division is the state's sole purchaser and distributor of spirituous liquor (intoxicating liquor containing more than 21 percent alcohol by volume). Spirituous liquor is sold through private businesses, known as liquor agencies, that the Division contracts with to serve as its sales agents. Regulatory functions handled by the Division include the issuance of permits to the state's privately owned and operated manufacturers, distributors and retailers of alcoholic beverages. The Division also regulates industry compliance of the laws pertaining to the manufacture, importation and distribution of beer, wine and mixed beverages containing less than 21 percent alcohol by volume in Ohio.

Division of Real Estate & Professional Licensing

The Division of Real Estate and Professional Licensing licenses real estate brokers and salespeople. In addition, it licenses and certifies general and residential appraisers and registers appraiser assistants. Applications are screened to ensure that legal qualifications are met prior to approval. When allegations of misconduct, fraud or unlicensed activity are made against licensees and registrants, the Division investigates the allegations, holds hearings and imposes discipline as determined by the Ohio Real Estate Commission and the Ohio Real Estate Appraiser Board. The Division also registers all operating cemeteries in Ohio and supports the Ohio Cemetery Dispute Resolution Commission by investigating complaints or disputes involving registered cemeteries.

Division of Securities

The mission of the Division of Securities is to maintain a balance between enhancing capital formation and providing investor protection. This balance is achieved by administering and enforcing the Ohio Securities Act. The law requires licensing those who sell or give advice about investing in securities; provides for the registration or exemption of securities sold; and prohibits certain conduct in connection with selling securities and giving advice about investing in securities.

Division of State Fire Marshal

The Division of State Fire Marshal (SFM) is the oldest established operation of its kind in the United States and consists of eight bureaus: Administration, Fire and Explosion Investigation, Forensic Laboratory, Underground Storage Tank Regulation, Fire Prevention, Code Enforcement, Ohio Fire Academy, and Testing and Registration. Among SFM's responsibilities are modernizing and enforcing the Ohio Fire Code; designing and presenting fire prevention programs; analyzing fire-related criminal evidence; investigating the cause and origin of fires and explosions; training firefighters; providing fire-safety education to business, industry and the general public; regulating underground storage tanks; testing and training; and licensing and certification support services.

Division of Unclaimed Funds

The Division of Unclaimed Funds is responsible for safekeeping and returning money designated as "unclaimed." Each year, thousands of Ohio citizens and organizations lose track of money and intangible personal property due to death, forgetfulness or other reasons. Common examples of unclaimed funds are dormant checking and savings accounts, forgotten rent and utility deposits, uncashed checks, undelivered stock certificates, and uncashed insurance policies.

The Office of the Ohio Consumers' Counsel (OCC) was created by the Ohio General Assembly in 1976 to represent the interests of residential utility consumers of Ohio's investor-owned electric, natural gas, telephone and water companies.

The OCC represents the interest of Ohio households in proceedings before state and federal regulators and in the courts. The state agency also educates consumers about utility issues and resolves complaints from individuals. To receive utility information, brochures, schedule a presentation or file a utility complaint, residential consumers may call 1(877) PICKOCC (1(877) 742-5622) TOLL FREE in Ohio or visit the OCC Website at www.pickocc.org.

The Consumer's Counsel directs the day-to-day operations of the agency with guidance from a nine-member bipartisan Governing Board whose members represent organized labor, family farmers, and at-large residential consumers. The Ohio Attorney General appoints members of the Governing Board.

Authority/Date Established Ohio Revised Code Chapter 4911. The OCC was created in 1976 with the passage of Senate Bill 94.

www.minority.development.ohio.gov

The Minority Business Enterprise Division assists in the creation, growth, and development of minority business enterprises throughout the state. A key priority of the Division is to increase the level of services statewide that support minority businesses and emerging entrepreneurs in the urban core. The Division's programs include Minority Contractors and Business Assistance Program Centers, the Office of Minority Financial Incentives, and the Procurement Technical Assistance Centers. The Division also administers the newly formed Minority Business Advisory Council.

Technology and Innovation Division (614) 466-3887
www.technology.developoment.ohio.gov

The Technology and Innovation Division builds research capacity in targeted technology areas with commercial opportunity, and supports the development of new technology based commercial projects to help ensure Ohio's companies remain competitive within the global marketplace. The Division also fosters the growth of early-stage Ohio technology companies, and attracts new technology companies to the state.

Workforce and Talent Division (614) 466-4155
www.workforce.development.ohio.gov

The Workforce and Talent Division is committed to supporting Ohio's most valuable asset: our workers. The availability of a reliable, skilled workforce is one of the most important considerations for businesses planning to expand or relocate. The Workforce and Talent Division partners with employers around the state, the University System of Ohio, and the Ohio Department of Job and Family Services to provide opportunities for life-long, job readiness, and skill development to Ohio's workers.

Regional Economic Development Offices (614) 466-9627
The Regional Economic Development Directors Offices, strategically located in our 12 economic development regions, are often the initial point of contact for the Department. As part of our plan for economic development, our Ohio Hubs of Innovation and Opportunity and Regional Economic Development Teams leverage our regional strengths to further statewide and regional economic development goals. Serving as an informed resource for local stakeholders, our Regional Economic Development Directors and Workforce Directors serve as liaisons for the Department and state government. Our Directors focus on identifying and exploring the economic, business, and community opportunities throughout each region by working with local business leaders, elected officials, and economic development groups.

Community Development Division (614) 466-5863
www.community.development.ohio.gov

The Community Development Division provides the solid foundation necessary for Ohio's citizens and economy to flourish. The Division solidifies Ohio's infrastructure, improves housing conditions, creates jobs, addresses energy needs, and supports local social service initiatives. The Community Development Division also houses the Office of Community Services and Office of Housing and Community Partnerships.

Governor's Office of Appalachia (614) 644-9228
www.appalachia.development.ohio.gov

The Governor's Office of Appalachia is an advocate for Ohio's 32 Appalachian counties. The Division works with the Appalachian Regional Commission in Washington, D.C. to promote the region's assets and to support local, regional, state, and federal initiatives. These initiatives contribute to the economic, educational, and community prosperity of the people of the Ohio's Appalachian region. The Division helps set the direction of Appalachian Regional Commission funding within Ohio. New initiatives such as Enterprise Appalachia help stimulate economic activity in our Appalachian region by initiating a small business attraction and creation campaign built on the success of entrepreneurship in the region.

Urban Development Division (614) 995-2292
www.urban.development.ohio.gov

The Urban Development Division is committed to helping revitalize Ohio's downtowns, historic buildings, and reclaim brownfields and damaged land in order to cultivate a successful business climate. The Division works closely with the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency to coordinate Ohio's brownfield revitalization efforts.

Office of Policy Research and Strategic Planning (614) 466-7772
www.strategic.development.ohio.gov

The Office of Policy Research and Strategic Planning provides data and analysis on the economic, industrial, demographic, and program trends of the State of Ohio, its businesses and its people. The Office acts as the state government liaison to the U.S. Bureau of the Census and the U.S. Bureau of Economic Analysis. It also gathers and disseminates information through reports, maps, and databases, as well as descriptive data on the economic activity and population trends of Ohio's cities, villages, townships, and counties.

Ohio Department of Education

25 S. Front St.
Columbus, OH 43215-4183

(877) 644-6338 Fax: (614) 387-0964
contact.center@ode.state.oh.us www.education.ohio.gov

Ohio law defines the Department of Education as the State Board of Education, the Superintendent of Public Instruction, and the employees needed to perform the duties spelled out in statute. The State Board of Education is the policy leader for public education in Ohio. Its responsibilities include:

- Preparing and submitting to the Governor and General Assembly an annual state of education report with recommendations for necessary legislative action and a 10-year enrollment projection.
- Preparing and submitting to the director of budget and management the biennial budgetary requests of the board and providing appropriate public education for all children.
- Formulating the administrative policies on instruction, teaching materials, buildings and equipment, transportation of pupils, finance and school district organization.
- Apportioning state and federal funds to elementary and secondary schools.
- Establishing minimum school standards.
- Determining the professional requirements for teachers and other educators employed by school districts.
- Operating the state schools for the blind and deaf.
- Hearing issues as a board of review.
- Giving leadership in the improvement of public education, including planning and evaluation.
- Cooperating with other state and federal agencies concerning the health and welfare of youth.

Board members are elected on a nonpartisan ballot, with one representative from each of Ohio's 11 State Board of Education districts, each comprised of three contiguous Senate districts. The Governor also appoints eight members to serve at-large. Members serve four-year terms. The chairs of the Ohio House of Representatives and Ohio Senate Education Committees serve as non-voting ex officio members of the State Board. Regularly scheduled meetings of the State Board are typically held on the second Monday and Tuesday of each month, except August.

The State Board and the department strive to meet its vision of all students graduating from the PK-12 education system with the knowledge, skills and behaviors necessary for success in postsecondary education and the workforce. To do this work effectively, the department is organized with an Office of the Superintendent and five centers: Center for Curriculum and Assessment; Center for School Improvement; Center for the Teaching Profession; Center for Students, Families and Communities; and Center for School Options and Finance.

The Office of the Superintendent oversees administration of legal, legislative, board relations, budget and planning, and internal audits, as well as coordinates the activities of the five centers to achieve the goals and objectives of the strategic plan. The Center for Operations oversees communications, human resources, fiscal services and technology initiatives. The Senior Associate Superintendent oversees the Ohio School for the Deaf and Ohio State School for the Blind.

The Center for Curriculum and Assessment is charged with defining student expectations and aligning expectations with curriculum models and assessments. Responsibilities include research, development, implementation and continuous improvement of standards-based education; managing the development and administration of statewide tests; supporting high-quality reading instruction, literacy support and other interventions for all Ohio students; supporting career pathways for middle and high school students including those in secondary workforce development programs; and working to change structure, instruction, culture and related practices of schools to ensure all students graduate prepared for postsecondary education, careers and life.

The Center for School Improvement provides a system of regional school improvement support for Ohio's school districts and monitors federal programs. The support is provided by analyzing school improvement data and identifying issues that deserve attention. This includes identifying schools under Ohio's Differentiated Accountability system through a uniform system using robust data. The identification is based primarily on proficiency in reading and mathematics. They also provide technical assistance to help school districts make the best use of their personnel, fiscal, materials and training resources derived through federal programs.

The Center for the Teaching Profession is responsible for implementing standards of the profession approved by the State Board of Education. They set standards and monitor teacher and administrator preparation programs, develop and broker professional development programs, and manage teacher licensure and revocation processes. They develop policies and programs for professional rewards and recognition, develop programs to recruit educational professionals according to programmatic and geographic needs, and research and report teacher and administrator supply-and-demand data. They also continue the implementation of the No Child Left Behind mandates on highly qualified teachers and equitable teacher distribution.

The Center for Students, Families and Communities oversees administration of all special education programs. They also develop and administer programs related to student development, child nutrition programs, and early childhood education.

The Center for School Options and Finance is responsible for completion of a school finance policy study and distribution of state and federal funds. In addition, the center oversees various school options and choice programs.

The Ohio Environmental Protection Agency's (Ohio EPA) purpose is to protect Ohio's air, land and water. The agency does this through a regulatory program that includes pollution-control regulations; permits that control pollution, inspections, and penalties for violating environmental laws. In addition, Ohio EPA offers technical assistance to help communities and businesses meet environmental requirements.

Division of Air Pollution Control

This division works to attain national clean-air standards throughout Ohio; operates an extensive air-monitoring network; oversees automotive-emissions testing program in urban areas; and issues permits containing air-pollution control requirements and setting emission limits.

Division of Solid and Infectious Waste Management

This division oversees proper disposal of solid and infectious waste; approves local solid-waste management plans, including provisions to reduce waste placed in landfill by 50 percent; issues permits for solid-waste landfills and other facilities that create, store, treat, or dispose of solid or infectious waste; and oversees Ohio's Scrap Tire Management Fund and enforces scrap-tire regulations

Division of Hazardous Waste Management

This division monitors environmental compliance at hazardous waste treatment, storage, and disposal facilities, and issues permit revisions and renewals for such facilities.

Division of Emergency and Remedial Response

This division directs proper cleanup of hazardous material spills; investigates environmental contamination, prioritizes sites, and directs cleanup; and manages Ohio's voluntary program for cleanup of abandoned industrial sites, known as brownfields.

Division of Drinking and Ground Waters

This division reviews regular sampling results from drinking-water supplies; assists in identifying and correcting contamination problems; investigates contamination of underground water resources; and assists communities in assessing wellfield sites and in developing source water protection areas.

Division of Surface Water

This division samples rivers and streams to evaluate water quality; sets standards for water quality, and issues pollution control permits to facilities that discharge treated waste water; works with local/state/international groups to improve and protect the quality of Lake Erie and its tributaries; reviews development proposals to ensure protection of wetlands; and works with soil and water conservation groups, farmers, and others to minimize erosion and accompanying stream pollution.

Division of Environmental and Financial Assistance

This division administers the Water Pollution Control Loan Fund (WPCLF), which provides low-interest loans to municipalities for waste-water treatment improvements, nonpoint-source pollution control projects, and other projects; and administers the WPCLF Linked Deposit Program, which provides low-interest loans through local banks to individuals and private organizations for implementation of nonpoint-source pollution control projects.

Office of Compliance Assistance and Pollution Prevention

This division provides on-site technical assistance to help companies comply with environmental regulations and implement pollution prevention activities; develops guidance documents for use by manufacturers and other members of the business community; and works with other Ohio EPA divisions to integrate pollution-prevention concepts into agency policies and regulations.

Office of Environmental Education

This office administers the Ohio Environmental Education Fund, which awards grants for projects that increase awareness and understanding of environmental issues throughout Ohio; awards science and engineering scholarships; and administers the Ohio EPA Clean Diesel School Bus Fund Retrofit Program which is designed to reduce children's exposure to diesel exhaust from school buses .

The State Board of Health was created in 1886. In 1917, the new state Department of Health was established. Today, the Ohio Department of Health is the state agency responsible for protecting and improving the health of all Ohioans through education, disease prevention, and ensuring access to quality health care. The department also works in tandem with Ohio's 136 local health departments to deliver basic public health services at the community level.

The Director of Health is appointed by the Governor to serve as Ohio's key policy adviser on health care issues, to represent state government in the health care industry, and to serve as the department's chief administrative officer with an emphasis on enforcing state health laws. The Governor also appoints the seven-member Public Health Council. The council is responsible for legislative, judicial and advisory duties; adopting health and sanitary regulations; conducting hearings in cases prescribed by law; and hearing appeals from decisions of the director.

Ohio Revised Code Sections 121.41 through 121.50 give the Office of the Inspector General authority to investigate wrongful acts or omissions committed by state officers or state employees involved in the management and operation of state agencies. Dedicated Deputy Inspectors General positions for the Ohio Department of Transportation and the Bureau of Workers' Compensation and Industrial Commission were created by the enactment of Ohio Revised Code Sections 121.51 and 121.52. The jurisdiction of the Ohio Inspector General extends solely to state agencies and state employees within the executive branch of state government and specifically excludes the Ohio General Assembly, any Ohio court, and the offices of Secretary of State, Auditor, Treasurer, and Attorney General.

A person who wishes to file a complaint or to provide the Ohio Inspector General with information may do so by mail, fax, telephone, or e-mail. If appropriate, a complainant may request and be granted confidentiality if disclosure would place the complainant in jeopardy.

If, upon review, it appears a complaint does not constitute wrongdoing as defined by the Office of the Inspector General or does not fall within the jurisdiction of the office, then every effort is made to make a more appropriate referral. However, the Office of the Inspector General cannot offer legal advice.

At the conclusion of an investigation by the Office of the Inspector General, a Report of Investigation is completed documenting the investigative findings, results, and in some cases, recommendations and referrals. The report is then provided to the Governor and the agency subject to investigation. When appropriate, a Report of Investigation may also be forwarded to a prosecutor for review to determine whether the underlying facts merit a criminal prosecution.

Department of Insurance

50 W. Town St., Suite 300
Columbus, OH 43215

(614) 728-1059 Fax: (614) 644-3743
directors.office@ins.state.oh.us www.ohioinsurance.gov

The department's statutory mandate, as set forth in Title 39 of the Ohio Revised Code, is to regulate the insurance industry in the state of Ohio, including protecting and educating consumers, monitoring the financial health of insurers, licensing agents, reviewing insurance products sold in Ohio, investigating allegations of insurance fraud by individuals or agents, and regulating the conduct of insurance companies.

The superintendent of insurance, appointed by the Governor, is the chief executive officer and director of the department. A chief of staff assists the superintendent in the performance of his or her duties. In addition, the superintendent serves as the state's insurance liquidator – a deputy liquidator oversees the daily operations of the separate liquidations office.

The department is divided into nine offices:

The Office of Executive Services houses the department's chief executive officer (superintendent of insurance) who serves as the ultimate regulatory and policy-making voice for the Department of Insurance to whom the deputy Director of chief of staff, and each assistant director report directly. The office contains the following divisions:

The Communication Division is responsible for daily media relations with local, state, and national media outlets, approves departmental publications, writes and disseminates news releases; and the director of communications serves as a liaison to the Governor's communication staff. In addition, it opens communication between stakeholder groups and the Department.

The Policy and Legislation Division coordinates all department legislative activities and serves as a clearinghouse for any departmental initiatives requiring legislative action. It provides research on pending legislation and evaluates its fiscal impact to the department. It also monitors and evaluates National Association of Insurance Commissioners (NAIC) activities. In addition, it responds to all constituent correspondence emanating from the legislature. The assistant director for policy & legislation serves as the department's liaison to the General Assembly.

The Office of General Services is responsible for day-to-day management and operation of the department and consists of the following divisions:

The Fiscal Division accounts for all fees due the state from insurance companies and agents; monitors and controls the department's operating budget; and processes and administers accounts payable and receivable.

The Human Resources Division analyzes the department's staffing needs and develops its staffing objectives. Its chief (human resources administrator) serves as the director's labor relations liaison for the department; develops staff training and tracks employee progress through the assessment and evaluation process; and coordinates Equal Employment Opportunity, Family Medical Leave Act and Americans with Disabilities Act compliance.

The Resource Management Division coordinates the department's procedures, procurement and planning as they relate to the administration of the physical plant of the department and is responsible for managing the department's facilities, staff travel arrangements, and telecommunications resources.

The Office of Information and Technology Service designs, implements, and maintains computer programs and applications; coordinates with the communications staff to design and maintain the department's Internet content; provides technical support and user training; and provides the public with license, company, and agent-related information.

The Office of Consumer Services is responsible for providing consumer education and information about insurance. It is comprised of two divisions:

The Consumer Services Division answers questions and assists consumers calling the department's toll-free hotline; investigates consumer complaints concerning all types of insurance; resolves disputes between companies and customers; identifies possible violations of the law for further and possible enforcement action; responds to on-line consumer inquiries and complaints, and interacts with consumers who visit the department.

The Ohio Senior Health Insurance Information Program (OSHIIP) helps Ohio's Medicare beneficiaries understand and navigate through Medicare, Medicaid and other health insurance issues. OSHIIP has trained more than 1,400 volunteers statewide to counsel beneficiaries at the local level, sponsors a speaker's bureau that provides presentations on a variety of insurance topics, and provides consumer-friendly publications.

The Office of Risk Assessment monitors the financial stability and solvency of insurance companies licensed in the state; conducts on-site financial examinations of every domestic insurer; and reviews and monitors insurers' annual financial statements to ensure the fiscal health of insurers conducting business in Ohio.

The Office of Investigative and Licensing Services serves as the department's clearinghouse for investigatory and licensing activities and is comprised of the following divisions:

The Fraud & Enforcement Division investigates allegations of unethical conduct and internal insurance fraud committed by agents companies and employees. Evidence of misconduct may result in fines, license suspensions/revocations or referral to the appropriate prosecutor. The division also investigates external insurance fraud perpetrated by claimants, insureds, and providers against insurers (e.g., fraudulent auto theft, arson-for-hire, and "padded" claims), and refers appropriate cases to local and federal prosecutors.

The Licensing Division processes applications for agent licensure with insurance companies, partnerships, public insurance adjusters, and non-resident brokers managing general agents, and third-party administrators, allowing them to conduct insurance business in Ohio. It also certifies prelicensed providers, and oversees the agent testing and continuing education administration processes, which are administered by a third-party vendor.

The Market Conduct Division conducts audits of the non-financial operations and performance of domestic insurance companies, and reviews the performance of the companies. Examinations are initiated by complaint data and other criteria determined by the director.

The Office of Legal Services reviews all corporate transactions, such as stock issuances, mergers, acquisitions, and investments of domestic insurers and provides legal research and counsel to the department and the director.

The Office of Life & Health Services has two divisions:

The Life & Health Division reviews the contractual provisions of all life and accident policies to ensure compliance with Ohio law, certifies that the policy forms are not deceptive nor misleading, and reviews premiums to ensure that rates charged are fair compared to policy benefits.

The Managed Care Division licenses prepaid health care plans (health insuring corporations, dental plans, and health care corporations) seeking to enroll Ohioans in managed-care programs; reviews all plan rates, filings, and contracts to ensure compliance with Ohio law; and investigates/resolves member complaints.

The Office of Property and Casualty Services reviews all rates, rules, and policy forms filed by companies authorized to write property and casualty insurance in Ohio. The lines of insurance subject to review by the Property and Casualty Officer include personal and commercial auto, homeowners, dwelling and commercial fire, general liability, professional liability (including medical malpractice, title, surety and home warranty insurance). The office reviews product rates, rules and forms, reviews purchasing group and risk retention group registrations and notifications, licenses surplus lines and brokers, and collects premium taxes for businesses with surplus line insurers.

Department of Job and Family Services

30 E. Broad St., 32nd Floor
Columbus, OH 43215

(614) 466-6283 Fax: (614) 466-2815
kellyl@odjfs.state.oh.us www.odjfs.state.oh.us

The director of the Ohio Department of Job and Family Services (ODJFS) is appointed by the Governor and has administrative policy responsibility for financial and medical assistance and social services programs for eligible Ohioans. The Ohio Department of Job and Family Services was formed July 1, 2000, with the merger of the Ohio Bureau of Employment Services and the Ohio Department of Human Services.

ODJFS develops and oversees programs and services designed to help Ohioans be healthy and safe, while gaining and maintaining employment and independence. These programs include: adoption, child care, child support, disability assistance, food stamps, foster care, labor exchange, Medicaid, Ohio Works First, the Prevention, Retention and Contingency program, protective services, unemployment compensation, veterans' services, and workforce development.

Many department programs are administered locally by county departments of job and family services (CDJFS), county public children services agencies (PCSAs) and county child-support enforcement agencies (CSEAs). Other services, including unemployment compensation, are administered directly by the department. There are about 3,900 department employees. The department is organized with executive leadership consisting of the director and three senior deputy directors. The director's administrative staff includes seven executive assistants.

The Office of Chief Inspector provides internal risk management, civil rights review, and safety and security issues for the department.

The Office for Children and Families supports communities and those who serve and advocate for children, adults and families in achieving safety, self-sufficiency, and stability. Prevention of family crisis and system dependency, child care licensing, placement and protective services for children and the elderly, adoption, automated systems and kinship care.

The Office of Child Support provides enforcement and establishment of a child-support order, paternity establishment, location of an absent parent, medical support, review and adjustment of an existing child-support order, and collection and disbursement of child-support monies.

The Office of Communications informs and explains ODJFS programs, policies and regulations governing the administration to the media, ODJFS customers including service recipients, participants and businesses. The office responds to media and constituent public inquiries, concerning the department's goals and operation; develops pamphlets, booklets, fact sheets, and brochures to inform the public on ODJFS programs and policies; conducts media events using news releases, audio and video public service announcements; and develops strategies to promote upcoming initiatives and to inform stakeholders of ODJFS progress in meeting departmental objectives.

The Office of Contract Administration provides oversight and guidance to program and project areas in the development and management of contracts. Major goals of the office are to promote contract strategies and to manage risk while realizing the constraints and opportunities with the various types of contracts within the program areas. Highly specialized expertise in contract development and contract management are necessary for the myriad of multimillion dollar IT and other technical contracts that allow the department to monitor, develop, oversee, and administer program activities and services. The office also provides oversight on behalf of the director on best practices and procedures for interdepartmental areas to draw upon.

The Office of Employee and Business Services manages all human-resources activities; handles printing and mass mailing, space and telecommunications planning, purchasing, and receipt, inventory, storage and distribution of forms and equipment.

The Office of Family Stability assures quality services to promote employment, self-sufficiency, family stability, and personal responsibility and establish a safety net for emergency needs for Ohio citizens. These objectives are met through policy development, county guidance and support and collaboration with county agencies that operate employment, prevention and emergency services through cash assistance, food stamps, social services and employment services. The office also helps counties meet federal and state work participation rates and encourages counties to establish family self-sufficiency as their overriding goal. Other responsibilities include issuing policy, providing guidance and research development of policy and procedures governing the statewide implementation of human services programs. Staff also review, analyze, and interpret public assistance and food-stamp policy based on federal and state regulations and laws. The office provides training and support for county staff.

The Office of Fiscal Services processes all departmental encumbrances and payments to vendors, employees (non-payroll), recipients, providers and county agencies, deposits funds due to the department, including grant awards, fees, audit findings, assessments and reimbursements, and provides reconciliation of general ledger to federal financial reports. The office provides county finance and technical assistance; develops, compiles and prepares federal and state reports reflecting expenditure activity of the department; responds to audit findings and reconciles draw-down activity of federal funds; documents and prepares federal expenditure and grant review reports; and develops and tracks the departmental budget.

The Office of Legal Services advises the director on legal matters concerning human-services programs and policies; provides advice and consultation to administrative staff, supervises state hearings staff; provides access to public records, handles clearance and rule filing drafts, reviews contracts; conducts provider hearings; issues administrative appeal decisions; and provides litigation support to the Attorney General's office. The office is also responsible for the conduct of fair hearings.

The Office of Legislation advises the director on legislative matters; serves as the principal liaison for the department with the General Assembly; manages, develops and advocates for the department's legislative agenda; and serves as department spokesperson on legislative matters. This office also manages the thousands of inquiries the department receives regarding department programs from the Governor's office, state legislators, members of Congress and for the agency director.

The Office of Local Operations serves as primary liaison between the state and the county departments of job and family services. This office provides support services to the 88 counties, businesses and service providers, in order to move clients from dependency to self-support through collaborative efforts and partnerships.

The Office of Management Information Services provides information system services for the department; reviews and approves state and county data processing needs; processes Medicaid, public assistance and social services claims; assists and trains Medicaid providers on billing procedures and responds to their questions; and maintains records on provider eligibility and enrolls new Medicaid providers.

The Office of Ohio Health Plans administers Ohio's Title XIX and Title XXI medical assistance and children's health insurance programs, including: establishing eligibility and level of care policies and standards; designing and pricing health care services, benefit packages, and delivery systems; coordinating benefits and paying claims; conducting utilization review and management activities; provider and network management; prior authorization of certain drugs, services and equipment; and member services.

The Office of Research, Assessment & Accountability provides a focal point in the department for program research, auditing and case review to evaluate the effectiveness of policies, procedures, and programs; works in partnership with county agencies to improve Food Stamp Program-payment accuracy and fraud reduction; and makes available to ODJFS and county agency management financial, statistical and performance data for decision-making and program improvement.

The Office of Unemployment Compensation is divided into four bureaus each sharing responsibility for accomplishing its missions. The Bureau of Unemployment Compensation Tax administers the tax- and wage-record provisions of the Ohio Unemployment Compensation Law. The Bureau of Benefit Payments is responsible for the central processing of benefit claims. The Bureau of Program Services is responsible for several specialized unemployment program functions, including internal security, labor dispute determinations, tax reconsideration decisions, employer seasonal status determinations, representation of the director before the Unemployment Compensation Review commission, coordination of information sharing with other offices and agencies and administration of the profiling program. The Bureau of Benefits Integrity audits, investigates, and issues policies on the operations of the Unemployment Compensation Benefits program. Overpayment determinations are pursued against flagrant violators attempting to cheat the system.

The Office of Workforce Development provides services for job seekers by assisting in career counseling, education, labor market information, job listings, and information on unemployment compensation. Services to employers include assistance with posting current job openings, resumes and finding employees for current procedures for reporting new hires, labor market information, tax credit programs and unemployment compensation.

Ohio Lake Erie Commission

One Maritime Plaza, 4th Floor
Toledo, OH 43604

(419) 245-2514

The Ohio Lake Erie Commission (OLEC) was created in ORC 1506.21 to preserve Lake Erie's natural resources, protect the quality of its waters and ecosystem, and promote economic development of the region by ensuring the coordination of and working to implement policies and programs of state government pertaining to water quality, toxic substances, and coastal resource management. The commission also oversees the management of the Lake Erie Protection Fund.

The Lake Erie Commission is made up of the directors of the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency, the Department of Natural Resources, the Ohio Department of Health, the Ohio Department of Transportation, the Department of Development, and the Ohio Department of Agriculture. The commission issues reports such as the "State of the Lake Report ~ Lake Erie Quality Index" and "Lake Erie Protection & Restoration Plan" that provide information and strategic action proposals for state government to improve the quality of Lake Erie and its use.

Columbus, OH 43201

(614) 644-7061 Fax: (614) 466-3584
marshams@sloma.state.oh.us www.library.ohio.gov

The State Library of Ohio was founded in 1817 under legislation passed by the 15th General Assembly. It was originally established by Governor Worthington to provide information and reading material to legislators and state officials. Over the years, the General Assembly has also assigned to the State Library responsibility assisting in the development and coordination of library services throughout the state. Under section 149.11 of the Ohio Revised Code, the Library operates a system whereby the publications of state departments, divisions, bureaus, boards and commissions are deposited in libraries in order to preserve them and ensure their accessibility to residents of Ohio and other states. The State Library is a congressionally designated depository for U.S. Government Documents. Public access to the government documents collection is guaranteed by public law (Title 44 United States Code).

The Library is under the control of a five-member State Library Board whose members are appointed by the State Board of Education, and is administered by the State Librarian.

The responsibilities of the Library include providing library and information services to state government, leading and partnering in the development of library services throughout Ohio, promoting and enabling resource sharing among libraries and library networks, providing specialized services to Ohio's residents, and administering state and federal subsidy funds. The Library collects, compiles and publishes statistics and information concerning libraries in the state. The Library also provides Talking Book equipment to blind and physically handicapped Ohioans on a statewide basis.

The State Library provides program planning for Ohio libraries; administers federal and state grant programs and provides basic research and analysis of programs. This library is also responsible for the operation of the Serving Every Ohioan (SEO) Library Center in Caldwell, which provides a variety of automation, reference, and resource sharing services to a consortium of public libraries around the state. The Library maintains a book and digital media collection, provides access to library material and information resources to State employees through OhioLINK, and furnishes reference information and loan services to state agencies and Ohio libraries and residents.

The Administration of the State Library oversees general operations of the library including fiscal services, building management, information systems and technology, public information, etc.

Ohio Lottery Commission

Frank J. Lausche Building, 615 W. Superior Ave.
Cleveland, OH 44113-9885

(216) 774-5746 Fax: (216) 787-5215
Jeannie.roberts@olc.state.oh.us www.ohiolottery.com

In 1971, Ohio State Senator Ron Mottl spearheaded a statewide lobbying campaign to create a lottery in Ohio. State Issue 1, the creation of the Ohio Lottery Commission, was approved by voters in 1973 by better than a two to one margin. Tickets for Ohio's first game, Buckeye 300, went on sale in August 1974.

In Fiscal Year 2005, the Ohio Lottery Commission received a new responsibility: administration and monitoring of charitable bingo licensing. The new responsibility was the result of a memo of understanding between the Lottery Commission and the Attorney General's Office.

Chapter 3770 of the Ohio Revised Code sets the parameters for the agency's operations, as it pertains to the selling of lottery games. Chapter 2915 of the Ohio Revised Code sets the parameters for the agency's administration of charitable gaming. The Lottery is presently the only state agency with headquarters outside of Columbus. The Lottery's central office is located in downtown Cleveland in the Frank Lausche State Office Building.

Besides having its headquarters in Cleveland, the Lottery has nine regional offices located throughout the state. These include Columbus, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Toledo, Dayton, Athens, Canton, Youngstown and Lorain. Each office is headed by a regional manager, with an assistant manager and a number of sales representatives determined by the number of lottery retailers in the region.

The Lottery Commission originally had a five-member board that oversaw all lottery operations, but now has a nine-member Commission that serves in an advisory capacity. Commissioners are appointed by the Governor to staggered three-year terms with the advice and consent of the Senate.

The Lottery is classified as an enterprise fund of the state of Ohio, and is presented as a blended component unit in the state's financial statements. The statutes that govern the Lottery require the Lottery to pay out at least 50 percent of ticket sales back to the players in the form of prizes.

In July 1983, the Ohio Legislature earmarked lottery profits to education. However, it was not until November 1987 that voters overwhelmingly approved a constitutional amendment to permanently earmark lottery profits for education. In March 1988, House Bill 789 created the Lottery Profits Education Fund, allowing for a clear separation of lottery dollars from the state's general-revenue fund.

The Lottery's goal is to maximize profits, which by law are transferred to the Lottery Profits Education Fund.

In Fiscal Year 2008, the Lottery contributed more than $672 million to the Lottery Profits Education Fund. Since the Lottery's inception in 1974, the Ohio Lottery Commission has contributed more than $16 billion to education in Ohio. While this is a significant amount of money, the state of Ohio has more than 800 school districts and the statewide education budget in Fiscal Year 2007 was $18 billion, according to the Ohio Department of Education.

www.ohiodnr.com

Created in 1949, the Ohio Department of Natural Resources (ODNR) owns or manages more than 590,000 acres of land for public recreation and the appreciation of nature, including 74 state parks, 20 state forests, 127 nature preserves, 20 state scenic rivers, and 120 state wildlife areas across Ohio. ODNR also has jurisdiction over more than 120,000 acres inland waters and 7,000 miles of streams, as well as Ohio's portions of Lake Erie and the Ohio River.

Among its other responsibilities, the department regulates oil, gas and mineral industries in Ohio; manages fish and wildlife resources; maps and defines the state's geologic framework; and promotes recreational boating and enforces boating safety laws. ODNR professional also manage the state's water resources and its historic canal systems, coordinate activities of county soil and water conservation districts, support local recycling and litter prevention programs and oversee the Lake Erie watershed through the Office of Coastal Management.

There are 12 primary divisions within the Ohio Department of Natural Resources.

The Division of Engineering provides a full range of engineering and construction services to ODNR's land-holding divisions. The division provides all real estate services for approximately 500,000 acres managed by ODNR programs; coordinates the environmental review process; and provides property management services for the nine buildings and 22 acre headquarter facility.

The Division of Forestry manages 20 state forests and provides forest management assistance to private woodland owners in Ohio. The division provides assistance to local communities through urban forestry programs and works to prevent destruction of forest lands by fires, insects and disease.

The Division of Geological Survey studies and publishes information about the mineral resources, fossil fuels, economic geology, geomorphology, stratigraphy, paleontology, mineralogy and geologic structure of Ohio. ODNR biologists conduct special studies on energy or mineral resources within the state, develop and distribute maps, and produce data portraying Ohio's geology.

The Division of Mineral Resources Management regulates oil and gas production, surface and underground mining of coal and industrial minerals, and reclamation activities. It plugs abandoned oil and gas wells and restores abandoned mine lands, and maintains a database of oil and gas well owners.

The Division of Natural Areas & Preserves manages 127 state nature preserves which represent characteristic examples of Ohio's natural landscape types, natural vegetation, habitat for rare and endangered species, and geological formations. The division oversees a system of 20 state scenic rivers – including three with national scenic river status – that are preserved and protected for the enjoyment of all Ohioans.

Ohio's 74 state parks are overseen by the Division of Parks and Recreation. They offer a variety of facilities including resort lodges, cabins, beaches, golf courses, campgrounds and hiking trails. The division is also responsible for administering the implementation of several recreational grants including NatureWorks and the Clean Ohio Trails Fund Program.

The Division of Recycling and Litter Prevention administers statewide recycling and litter prevention programs and grants to encourage local government and private sector activities that promote collection, processing, and marketing of recycled materials. A scrap tire recycling grant program is also administered that creates a demand for scrap tires through partnership projects that increase the demand for these materials.

The Division of Soil and Water Resources, working through Ohio's 88 soil and water conservation districts, assists government agencies, businesses, and private landowners in natural resources management and land use planning decisions. It conducts soil inventories and publishes interpretive soil reports and maps, monitors changes in land use, and recommends management practices to meet water quality standards relating to agricultural pollution and urban sediment abatement. The division has broad responsibilities for managing water resources, collecting data, developing groundwater resource and pollution potential maps, and providing technical assistance on ground water quantity management in Ohio. The division issues permits for the construction of dams and inspects existing dams. The division studies all factors relating to flooding and water supply in the state.

The Division of Watercraft administers and enforces all laws regarding identification, numbers, titling, use and operation of recreational boats on Ohio's waters; conducts watercraft safety education programs; and develops boating facilities on major water areas of the state.

The Division of Wildlife promotes hunting and fishing opportunities in the state while it protects and improves wildlife resources, including fish, game, and non-game species through law enforcement, research programs, improvement of habitat, and establishment of native species.

To assist the work of these divisions, there are several centralized support offices with the Department of Natural Resources: Office of Human Resources, Office of Information Technology, Office of Budget and Finance, and Office of Communications. A number of advisory councils, boards and commissions have been established to provide public participation in the formulation of plans and policies for the department and its various divisions.

Ohio Department of Public Safety

1970 W. Broad St.
Columbus, Ohio 43223

(614) 466-3383
www.publicsafety.ohio.gov

The Ohio Department of Public Safety is dedicated to the mission of saving lives, reducing injuries and economic loss, administering Ohio's motor vehicle laws and regulating driver licensing and vehicle registration. The Ohio Department of Public Safety provides services aimed to preserve the safety and well being of all citizens with the most cost-effective and service-oriented methods available through its divisions: Administration, Ohio Emergency Management Agency (EMA), Ohio Emergency Medical Services (EMS); Ohio Investigative Unit (OIU); Ohio Office of Criminal Justice Services (OCJS); Ohio Homeland Security; and, the Ohio State Highway Patrol as well as the Ohio Traffic Safety Office.

Preventing economic loss to Ohio is a natural by product of the Department's efforts. Public Safety's mission is accomplished through three critical functions: Education, Service and Protection.

Administration

The Administration Division acts to maintain, facilitate and enhance the operations of various divisions of the Department of Public Safety, ensuring that the Department operates efficiently and effectively. The division encompasses five sections: business services, data services, fiscal services, human resource management, and information technology, all of which provide support services to the department and its divisions.

Ohio Bureau of Motor Vehicles (BMV)

The Ohio Bureau of Motor Vehicles oversees driver and motor vehicle licensing and registration, as set forth in the motor vehicle laws of the state of Ohio. The BMV continues to make services more convenient, efficient and cost-effective through its network of more than 200 deputy registrar agencies across the state and Internet-based license registration site, OPLATES.com.

Ohio Emergency Management Agency (EMA)

The primary mission of the Ohio Emergency Management Agency is to coordinate activities to mitigate, prepare for, respond to and recover from disasters, both natural and man-made. This mission is carried out by closely interfacing with local, state and federal agencies in an effort to bring resources of recovery and support to Ohioans impacted by disasters. Ohio EMA agency activities, in addition to disaster response and recovery include: education, training, planning, and preparedness, strengthening Ohio's first responder capabilities and improving communication across the state.

Ohio Emergency Medical Services (EMS)

Ohio EMS, working in cooperation with the State Board of Emergency Medical Services, is dedicated to saving lives and minimizing disability to Ohio's citizens and visitors by developing and continually enhancing a statewide, comprehensive, systematic response to injury, illness and fire, through education, training, certification and strategic planning. The Division oversees the certification of emergency medical technicians and firefighters and certifies fire safety inspectors and issues accreditations for EMS training institutions.

Ohio Investigative Unit (OIU)

OIU provides quality enforcement of state, federal and local laws with emphasis on liquor, food stamp and tobacco offenses, offering educational guidance, training and professional assistance to law enforcement agencies, permit establishments and the general public. Agents have criminal jurisdiction and serve as the sole law enforcement agency in the state with the power to administratively cite a liquor permit premise before the Liquor Control Commission.

Office of Criminal Justice Services (OCJS)
Through research, technology, evaluation, grant administration and programmatic initiatives, OCJS strives to positively impact the state of Ohio in prevention, intervention and reduction of crime and delinquency throughout Ohio.

Ohio Homeland Security (OHS)
OHS plans, develops and coordinates statewide resources in support of public and private entities responsible for preventing terrorism, raising awareness, reducing vulnerabilities, responding to and recovering from major incidents and terrorist acts. Homeland Security was established as a new division within Public Safety in September 2003 to strengthen Ohio's commitment to addressing the new threats and challenges of terrorism in wake of the September 11, 2001 attacks. The Homeland Security Division also oversees the licensing and regulation of private investigators and security guards.

Ohio State Highway Patrol (OSHP)
An internationally accredited agency, OSHP's mission is to protect life and property, promote traffic safety and provide professional public safety services with respect, compassion and unbiased professionalism. OSHP also offers statewide emergency response services and support services to the public and the criminal justice community; investigation of criminal activities on state-owned and leased property throughout Ohio, and security for the Governor and other dignitaries.

Ohio Traffic Safety Office (OTSO)
Formerly known as the Governor's Highway Safety Office, OTSO promotes educational programs, coalition-building efforts and campaigns focused on highway safety as well as other federal traffic safety programs, the statewide Driver Training Program, Motorcycle Ohio and Traffic Statistics. OTSO coordinates and funds the efforts of traffic safety partners through its role as primary administrator of federal traffic safety funds from the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA).

The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio

180 E. Broad St.
Columbus, OH 43215

(614) 466-3307 Fax: (614) 752-2392
www.puco.ohio.gov

The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio (PUCO) affects just about every household in Ohio. That's because the PUCO regulates providers of all kinds of utility services, including electric and natural gas companies, local and long distance telephone companies, water and wastewater companies, and rail and trucking companies. The PUCO was created to assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price. More recently, the PUCO gained responsibility for facilitating competitive utility choices for Ohio consumers.

Five Ways the PUCO Works for You:

1. Protects you by monitoring and enforcing PUCO rules and state laws against unfair, inadequate and unsafe public utility and transportation services.
2. Resolves your disputes either informally between you and the company or through our formal complaint process where only the PUCO can order relief and corrective action. The PUCO resolves disputes between utilities and residential, business, and industrial customers, as well as between competing utilities.
3. Assures availability of adequate, safe and reliable services to all residential, business, and industrial consumers.
4. Provides you with information about your rights and responsibilities as a utility customer and publishes the Apples to Apples cost comparisons for energy services where you have a choice. You can turn to the PUCO for answers to your questions and help with your utility and transportation problems.
5. Regulates your rates for utility services where you do not have choices. Even with competition growing in the gas and electric industries, for example, the PUCO still sets the rates for delivery of those services since that part is still controlled by one company.

The PUCO Yesterday and Today

Utility and transportation regulation in Ohio dates back to 1867, when the Ohio General Assembly established the Office of the Commissioner of Railroads and Telegraphs as a fact-finding agency responsible for reporting on the physical, financial and operating conditions of Ohio's railroad and telegraph companies. With the passage of the Railroad Act in 1906, the office was renamed the Railroad Commission, the number of commissioners was increased to three, and for the first time, the body had the authority to fix rates.

In 1911, the legislature established the Public Service Commission. Expanding upon railroad regulation, the agency also addressed concerns in the emerging telephone, electric, natural gas and water industries. In 1913, the name changed again to the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio (PUCO). The PUCO was later granted jurisdiction over motor carrier transportation.

In 1983, the PUCO was expanded from a three to five-person commission, as it remains today. Today's PUCO monitors the activities of utility companies to assure all Ohioans access to adequate, safe and reliable services at fair prices.

Commissioners are still appointed by the governor, but now serve five-year terms. The governor's selection is made from a list of names submitted by the Public Utilities Commission Nominating Council, a broad-based group charged with screening candidates for the office of commissioner.

Although regulatory responsibilities did not change when the PUCO was expanded, the decision-making process is now more open to the public. For example, the PUCO holds regular public meetings to reach regulatory decisions and develop policies. Local public hearings, presided over either by commissioners or hearing examiners from the PUCO Legal Department, are held around Ohio concerning a variety of utility issues.

To carry out its responsibilities, the PUCO employs a professional staff that includes engineers, economists, attorneys and safety inspectors. The PUCO scrutinizes rate and service matters with the goal of assuring all residential and business customers access to adequate, safe and reliable utility services at fair prices, while facilitating an environment that provides competitive choices.

The Chancellor of the Ohio Board of Regents is the state official responsible for overseeing higher education in Ohio. The Chancellor has statutory authority for a broad range of planning, coordinating, and budgeting activities on behalf of Ohio higher education. Governance authority for individual colleges and universities rests with each institution's board of trustees.

The Chancellor establishes broad policy directions for higher education through issue papers, reports, policy studies, and a "master plan" series. In consultation with colleges and universities, the Chancellor develops operating and capital budget recommendations for state support and distributes appropriated funds. Responsibility for authorizing colleges and universities to offer degree credit instruction rests with the Chancellor of the Board of Regents.

The Chancellor is appointed by the Governor, with the advice and consent of the Senate. The Chancellor and staff work closely with the Governor, the General Assembly, and individual colleges and universities.

The Ohio Department of Rehabilitation and Correction (DRC) is committed to keeping Ohio communities protected. DRC maintains prison security by providing appropriate supervision for offenders committed to the department from Ohio courts. The department employs over 14,000 persons throughout the state. It is responsible for the administration and operation of both the institutional and the community-related phases of Ohio's adult correctional system. The department's mission is to protect and support Ohioans by ensuring that adult felony offenders are effectively supervised in environments that are safe, humane and appropriately secure. In partnership with communities, the agency promotes citizen safety and victim reparation. Through rehabilitative and restorative programming, it instills in offenders an improved sense of responsibility and the capacity to become law-abiding members of society.

Department of Taxation

30 E. Broad St., 22nd Floor
Columbus, OH 43215

(614) 466-2166 Fax: (614) 466-6401
tax.ohio.gov

The tax commissioner is the principal administrative officer of the Department of Taxation. The tax commissioner is responsible for enforcing Ohio tax laws to the extent that the administration has been legally assigned to this office, and has the discretion to establish such a structure as will render the administration of the tax efficient and effective. Currently, principal tax administration responsibilities within the department are divided into seven operating divisions: Personal Income and Business Taxes; Sales Tax; Excise, Motor Vehicle Fuel and Commercial Activity Tax; Audit; Taxpayer Services and Compliance; Estate Tax; and Tax Equalization. The department contains other support staff sections to perform the functions of budgeting, revenue accounting and distribution to local government entities and schools, audit, tax enforcement, staff legal counsel and taxpayer appeals, tax revenue discovery, research and tax analysis, legislative services, communications, information services, forms management, and human resources and training. A problem resolution officer works under the direction of the Chief Ethics Officer and provides additional assurance to taxpayers that their rights are being protected. The department also maintains district offices in eight Ohio cities: Akron, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Columbus, Dayton, Toledo, Youngstown, and Zanesville. In addition, there are three out-of-state offices in Chicago, Los Angeles, and New York.

The Department of Taxation, with a single commissioner at its head, was created in 1939. Prior to that, Ohio tax administration had been centered in a three-member Tax Commission that had been created in 1910 to consolidate the tax enforcement activities previous assigned to a variety of state offices. The position of tax commissioner is an appointive one serving at the pleasure of the Governor.

A separate department of Tax Equalization was created in 1976 and in 1983 became a division of the Department of Taxation. The Tax Equalization division supervises the 88 county auditors in determining the valuation of real property for taxation. The Board of Tax Appeals hears appeals from decisions and rulings of the Department of Taxation.

To administer the taxes assigned to this department, the law grants the tax commissioner broad powers, duties and functions, which include the right and duty to make all tax assessments, valuations, determinations, computations and orders; refund and remit taxes or assessments; distribute revenue to local governments; issue certificates of abatement as to certain state revenue; revoke licenses; and adopt and promulgate rules and regulations. The commissioner maintains a division of research and statistics (Tax Analysis) to study the tax and revenue system. A journal is maintained, open to public inspection, which contains a record of the commissioner's assessment actions.

Objections to all tax assessment, certifications of valuation and audit findings as originally determined by the Department of Taxation are subject to administrative review by the commissioner. The commissioner also maintains a hearing board, which functions only in an advisory capacity. The tax commissioner's final determination may be appealed to the Board of Tax Appeals in the manner provided by law.

Columbus, OH 43223

(614) 466-7170
www.dot.state.oh.us www.buckeyetraffic.org

The Ohio Department of Transportation (ODOT) - created by the Ohio General Assembly on September 29, 1972, as the successor to the Department of Highways - plans, constructs, and maintains the state's integrated, multi-modal transportation system. ODOT oversees the nation's fourth largest interstate system, the seventh largest highway network, fourth most operating rail routes, 12th highest transit ridership rate, 716 miles of navigable waterways, and 106 federally-designated airports.

With an annual budget of approximately $3 billion and approximately 5600 employees, ODOT is most recognized for its investments in preserving, maintaining, and modernizing nearly 49,000 lanes miles of roadway and 14,891 bridges on the state highway system. During Ohio's winter months, ODOT ensures continued safety on the roads by using 1,700 plow trucks, more than 500,000 tons of salt, and 3,000 drivers to clear ice and snow.

There are 12 district offices throughout the state, a county garage in each of the state's 88 counties, several smaller outposts, and the department's Central Office headquarters in Columbus.

Ohio Bureau of Workers' Compensation

Ohio's rich history of helping workers and employers throughout the state cope with work-related injuries, diseases and deaths dates back to 1911. That is when the first Ohio Workmen's Compensation Act became law. Today, Ohio's workers' compensation system remains essential to ensuring the safety, health and economic well-being of all Ohioans.

Workers' compensation in Ohio is a no-fault system that offers protection from costly lawsuits to employers and guaranteed benefits to injured workers. It is comprised of two parts.

- The Ohio Bureau of Workers' Compensation (BWC) is the administrative and insurance arm.
- The Industrial Commission of Ohio (IC) is the claims adjudicative branch.

The Ohio Revised Code governs both agencies.

BWC is the only insurance entity that may underwrite workers' compensation insurance in the state. It provides insurance to approximately two-thirds of Ohio's workforce. The remaining workers receive coverage directly through their employers. These companies are part of a self-insurance program for large and financially stable employers who meet strict qualifications set by BWC.

BWC maintains a central office in Columbus and customer service offices throughout the state. BWC manages all lost-time claims, initiates coverage and determines premium rates and manual classifications. The agency also collects premiums from employers, determines the initial allowance or denial on claim applications, disburses money to pay compensation and medical costs, keeps account records, develops actuarial data and manages the State Insurance Fund.

Through its Division of Safety & Hygiene (DSH), BWC promotes safer, healthier workplaces for Ohio workers and employers. BWC allocates 1 percent of all premium dollars to developing and presenting safety and health education and services.

DSH performs research to prevent industrial accidents and diseases, and offers safety training, and accident and occupational disease-prevention programs to employers and their employees. The division provides consultation services in ergonomics, industrial hygiene and other safety-related matters to reduce the number and severity of workplace injuries.

A governor-appointed administrator and 11-member BWC Board of Directors oversee BWC. Board members represent the interests of Ohio workers and employers, and the public at large. The board also includes members with professional expertise in financial accounting, investments and securities, and actuarial management. All 11 members have full voting rights.

As fiduciaries of Ohio's workers' compensation system, the board provides independent verification of BWC's financial and operational performance. It also has direct authority in advising BWC's administrator and setting the agency's overall policies.

The IC hears and decides contested claims and determines permanent total disability. The governor appoints the three-member IC board and the Ohio Senate confirms it. One member represents labor, one represents industry and one represents the public. There are three appeal levels for workers' compensation claims.

The Supreme Court of Ohio

65 S. Front St., Columbus, OH 43215-3431

(614) 387-9500 sc.ohio.gov

2010-2015 (six-year term)

The Supreme Court of Ohio is established by Article IV, Section 1, of the Ohio Constitution, which provides that "the judicial power of the state is vested in a Supreme Court, Courts of Appeals, Court of Common Pleas and divisions thereof, and such other courts inferior to the Supreme Court as many from time to time be established by law."

Article IV, Section 2, of the Constitution sets the size of the Court at seven – a Chief Justice and six Justices – and outlines the jurisdiction of the Court.

The Supreme Court is the court of last resort in Ohio. Most of its cases are appeals from the 12 district courts of appeals. The Court may grant leave to appeal criminal cases from the courts of appeals and may direct any court of appeals to certify its record on civil cases that are found to be "cases of public or great general interest."

The Court must accept appeals of cases that originated in the courts of appeals; cases involving the death penalty; cases involving questions arising under the U.S. Constitution or the Ohio Constitution; and cases in which there were conflicting opinions from two or more courts of appeals.

The Court also must accept appeals from such administrative bodies as the Board of Tax Appeals and the Public Utilities Commission.

The Court has original jurisdiction for certain special remedies that permit a person to file an action in the Supreme Court. These extraordinary remedies include writs of habeas corpus (involving the release of persons allegedly unlawfully imprisoned or committed), writs of mandamus and procedendo (ordering a public official to do a required act), writs of prohibition (ordering a lower court to cease an unlawful act), and writs of quo warranto (against a person or corporation for usurpation, misuse or abuse of public office or corporate office or franchise).

The Court also may grant leave to appeal a case involving a contested election. This type of a case is unique because it is the only type of discretionary appeal that permits a case to be taken directly from the court of common pleas to the Supreme Court, bypassing the court of appeals.

The Supreme Court of Ohio also makes rules governing practice and procedure in Ohio's courts, such as the Rules of Evidence, Rules of Civil Procedure and Rules of Criminal Procedure. Procedural rules adopted by the Supreme Court become effective unless both houses of the General Assembly adopt a concurrent resolution of disapproval. The Supreme Court also exercises general superintendence over all state courts through its rule-making authority. The rules of superintendence set minimum standards for court administration statewide. Unlike procedural rules, rules of superintendence do not have to be submitted to the General Assembly to become effective.

The Chief Justice assigns judges to courts for temporary duty in cases of a court overload, where a judge was removed from a case because of an affidavit of disqualification, or where a judge recused himself or herself from a particular case.

The Court also has authority over the admission of attorneys to the practice of law in Ohio and may discipline admitted attorneys who violate the rules governing the practice of law.

The Chief Justice and six Justices are elected to six-year terms on a nonpartisan ballot. Two Justices are chosen at the general election in even-numbered years. In the year when the Chief Justice is on the ballot, voters elect three members of the Court. A person must be an attorney with at least six years of experience in the practice of law to be elected or appointed to the Court. Appointments are made by the governor for vacancies occurring between elections.

Court of Claims

65 S. Front St., 3rd Floor, Columbus, OH 43215

(614) 387-9800

The Court of Claims is given original jurisdiction to hear and determine all civil actions filed against the State of Ohio and its agencies. The court also hears appeals from decisions made by the Attorney General on claims allowed under the Victims of Crime Act.

The Court of Claims decides civil claims that typically involve contract disputes, property damage, personal injury, immunity of state officers and employees, discrimination, and wrongful imprisonment. The Chief Justice assigns judges to hear such cases. In almost every instance, a single judge will hear a case, but the Chief Justice may assign a panel of three judges to a civil action that presents novel or complex issues of law and fact.

Civil complaints filed for $2,500 or less are decided on the contents of the case file or "administratively" by the clerk of the court or a deputy clerk. Appeals from those decisions ("administrative determinations") may be taken to a judge of the court upon motion for court review. The court's judgment cannot be the subject of further appeal.

Crime victims' appeals are heard and determined by a panel of three commissioners who are appointed by the Supreme Court for a six-year term. A further and final appeal from the panel's decisions may be taken to a judge of the court. As in the case of administrative determinations, the judge's decision is final.

OHIO HISTORY

On January 3, 1778, Lieutenant George Rogers Clark, upon recommendation of Patrick Henry, Governor of Virginia, received a commission from the Legislature of Virginia to secure the lands north of the Ohio River from British troops that were positioned in Illinois.

The fame of George Rogers Clark in a great measure is based upon the success of this campaign, which ended in the conquest of the Northwest Territory. The Ordinance of 1787 provided for the government of this acquired territory and was adopted by the Confederate Congress on July 13 of that year. On October 5, 1787, under the ordinance's provisions, Arthur St. Clair was elected Governor of the Northwest Territory.

The first Congress of the United States approved an act in August 1789, which adopted the provisions of the Ordinance of 1787 to the new federal Constitution and provided for the appointment of the governor, judges and secretary of the new territory by the president, upon the confirmation of the Senate. In case of death, removal, resignation or necessary absence of the governor, the appointed secretary of the Territory became acting governor. Upon the call of General St. Clair, the first formal meeting of the legislative body within the present limits of Ohio was held in Cincinnati on May 29, 1795.

The first General Assembly of the Northwest Territory was held in Cincinnati, September 16 to December 19, 1799, at which William Henry Harrison, then acting as secretary of the Territory, was elected a delegate to Congress. Charles Willing Byrd succeeded Mr. Harrison as secretary.

The second General Assembly met in Chillicothe on November 23, 1801, and continued in session until January 23, 1802. On April 30, 1802, an act was passed by Congress authorizing the formation of a state government for Ohio. On November 1, the first Constitutional Convention assembled in Chillicothe and, in the following words, adopted a Constitution for Ohio: "We, the people of the eastern division of the territory of the United States northwest of the River Ohio, do ordain and establish the following Constitution or form of Government, and do mutually agree with each other to form ourselves into a free and independent state by the name of the state of Ohio." The convention concluded its work on "the 29th day of November in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and two, and of the Independence of the United States of America, the twenty-seventh."

In the meantime, the commission of Governor St. Clair was revoked under the date of November 22, and Secretary Charles Willing Byrd assumed the duties of governor of the Northwest Territory.

The Constitution provided for the first election of governor, members of the General Assembly and county officials to be held in each county of the state of Ohio on the second Tuesday of January 1803. The following counties were in existence at that time: Adams, Belmont, Clermont, Fairfield, Hamilton, Jefferson, Ross, Trumbull and Washington. Edward Tiffin, who had served as president of the Constitution Convention, was elected governor of Ohio without opposition and assumed office with other state and county officials on March 1, 1803.

When the Ordinance of 1787 was formally put into operation on July 17, 1788, the capital was established at Marietta. The capital remained at Marietta until 1800 when it was moved by the Congressional Act of May 7 to Chillicothe. The first state constitution, adopted in 1802, stated the capital was to remain there until at least 1808. Soon after the expiration of this limit, opposition developed to continuing the capital at Chillicothe. A petition was received early in 1810 from Zanesville requesting the relocation of the capital to that city and agreeing that such change would be made without expense to the state. The Legislature of 1809 moved the capital to Zanesville until such time as a permanent site should be selected. However, the approaching War of 1812 made it necessary to move the capital back to Chillicothe, where there was less danger from attack by the Indians and British.

The capital was permanently located in Columbus by the Legislative Act of February 14, 1812, but provided that until the new statehouse was ready for occupancy, Chillicothe should be the temporary capital. The act of February 17, 1816, formally designated Columbus as the capital "from and after the second Tuesday of October 1816." The Chillicothe Statehouse was destroyed by fire on February 1, 1852.

State Facilities

The erection of the present capitol building began in 1838 and was not completed until 1861, although it was formally dedicated January 6, 1857. The Ohio Capitol building is made of limestone, quarried near the city, and the architecture is Greek Revival. The erection of the Department of Justice Building, or Annex as it is commonly known, located east and adjoining the Capitol Building, was commenced in 1899 and completed in 1901.

In 1925, the 86th General Assembly of Ohio enacted the law creating the State Building Commission to be composed of the governor of Ohio, attorney general and the auditor of state. The commission was assigned the duty of erecting a state office building and making alterations to the present capitol building. In 1929, the 88th General Assembly of Ohio amended the Act of 1925 so that the commission would be comprised of five members to be appointed by the governor and to be known as the State Office Building Commission. The Act of 1929 provided for the acquisition of a site and the construction of a state office building. Governor Myers Y. Cooper appointed the State Office Building Commission July 8, 1929, and the general contract for the erection of the Ohio Departments of State Building was signed October 6, 1930.

When nearly completed, the building was damaged on April 14, 1932 by a terrific explosion. The repairs and reconstruction cost approximately $750,000. The cause of the explosion was traced to a leaky gas main, and on April 16, 1934, the State of Ohio was paid $450,000 for damages. The completed building, located on Front Street in Columbus, was opened March 20, 1933.

The steel building is fireproofed with an exterior finish of Georgia marble. The lower stories of the building are of ornamental design with stone carvings depicting the resources, industry and early history of Ohio. The various hearing rooms are decorated with murals depicting Ohio history, while Hearing Room No. 2 is said to be one of the most beautiful assembly rooms in the United States.

The 41-story James A. Rhodes State Office Tower, which houses an estimated 4,000 employees, opened in April 1974. Located at 30 E. Broad St. across from the north side of the Statehouse, the building is the home of the Treasurer of State and the Attorney General. It also contains several state agencies, including the Departments of Administrative Services, Taxation, Budget and Management and the office of Information Technology. To achieve uninterrupted, flexible office space, all elevators, stairs, and mechanical and utility shafts are expressed up the outside of the 629-foot tower. Three parking levels and a public concourse to the Statehouse are below ground level. The structure is faced with bronze anodized windows with bronze-tinted glass and a granite facing. Pedestrian ramps and a grade-level, multi-tiered lobby were designed to complement surrounding buildings and walks.

On December 15, 1988, the Vern Riffe Center for Government and the Arts at 77 S. High St. was opened. The 32-story granite building, which faces the west side of the Ohio Capitol building, houses 2,000 state employees by day, and theater-goers and art gallery visitors by night. The center houses offices of the Ohio House of Representatives, the Governor(?) and Lieutenant Governor, Department of Commerce, Department of Development and a variety of other state departments. In addition, the center has an art gallery, operated by the Ohio Arts Council, and three theaters. The Vern Riffe Center for Government and the Arts, with 1.1 million square feet, cost $130 millon to build. An atrium lobby with a six-story clock tower joins two larger towers. The clock is 10 feet in diameter and weighs 700 pounds.

By 1989, the Ohio Capitol and Annex buildings were more than 125 years old and had fallen into a state of disrepair. Through the years, much of the historic and aesthetic qualities of the structures had been lost. In addition, the unsafe structures did not conform to 20th century building codes. Between 1989 and 1996, the buildings were restored to their original splendor. The renovated Ohio Capitol and Annex were officially unveiled during week-long events from July 3 through 9, 1996. The renovated Ohio Capitol now features mid-19th century charm, including gas lamps and Civil War-era furniture, and meets 20th century needs with an improved electrical system for computers, compliance with fire code and access for the disabled. The renovated Ohio Capitol also features the return of natural light to the rotunda, educational displays, hands-on computer kiosks, a gift shop and a café.

In February 2004, the Supreme Court of Ohio Ohio vacated offices in the Rhodes State Office Tower and moved to the former Ohio Departments Building at 65 S. Front Street in downtown Columbus. Now called the Ohio Judicial Center, the refurbished building houses about 250 employees of the Supreme Court and marks the first time the judiciary branch is housed separately from the other two branches of state government.

Construction on the Ohio Judicial Center began in 2001 when architects began the task of restoring the building to its past splendor-- including 61 murals and the depiction of numerous Ohio politicians, American Indian leaders and Ohio Cities-- while modernizing it for technologically advanced office needs. Renovation included restoring the building's Grand Concourse and its original hearing rooms. Today, the largest hearing room serves the main courtroom for the Ohio Supreme Court. Additionally, the building includes an education center, as well as the Supreme Court library, which is housed in the former State Library.

Ohio Seal

The Great Seal is an engraved stamp that is used to make an impression on public documents. It is evidence of the genuineness and authority of such papers. The Coat of Arms is the figure or device on the seal.

The Constitution of 1802 provided that there should be a seal kept by the Governor to be called "The Great Seal of the State of Ohio." This provision was inserted without change in the Constitution of 1851. In 1803, the legislature passed a law authorizing the making of a two-inch seal to contain the following device: In the foreground a sheaf of wheat and sheaf of 17 arrows with a mountain in the background over which shall appear a rising sun. The arrows indicate that Ohio was the 17th state admitted to the Union, and the mountain and rising sun indicate that it was the first state west of the Alleghenies. The mountain shown on the seal is Mt. Logan near Chillicothe. This law was repealed in 1805 and there was no law to take its place until 1866. As a result, Great Seals of many sizes and devices came into use at various times.

The laws of 1866 required so complicated a device that the law was repealed in 1868, and a new act was passed re-enacting the original law of 1803 with a single change that a range of mountains be used instead of a single mountain. Slight changes with respect to the use of 17 rays radiating from the sun, a foreground representing the Scioto River (near the Mount Logan setting of the State Seal), and cultivated fields, were made in 1967.

In 1996, the number of rays radiating from the sun was reduced to 13. These rays represent the 13 original colonies of the United States.

Coat of Arms

The coat of arms of the state shall consist of the following device: A shield in form, a circle; on it, in the foreground on the right, a sheaf of wheat; on the left, a bundle of 13 arrows, both standing erect; in the background, and rising above the sheaf and arrows, a mountain range, over which shall appear a rising sun.

State Motto

Effective October 1, 1959, a law passed by the General Assembly adopted as Ohio's new motto, "With God, All Things Are Possible."

It was suggested by a Cincinnati boy, James Mastronardo, when he was nine years-old. He lobbied the General Assembly to accept it and was successful as he was nearing the age of 12. The 1959 law makes no reference to the motto's inclusion on the State Seal.

In 1866, a law was passed providing for the inscription of a motto on the state seal. The motto adopted was "Imperium in Imperio" -- an empire within a empire, or a government within a government. However, this motto did not meet with general approval and the law was repealed in 1868. The law of 1868 made provisions for the seal without a motto.

State Flag

The General Assembly in 1902 enacted a law, which became effective May 9, 1902, authorizing and describing the state flag. The following is the essential text of the act:

"The flag of the state of Ohio shall be pennant shaped. It shall have three red and two white, horizontal stripes; the union of flag shall be seventeen five-pointed stars, white, in a blue rectangular field, the base of which shall be the staff end or vertical edge of the flag, and the apex of which shall be the center of the middle red stripe. The stars shall be grouped around a red disc superimposed upon a white circular."

The flag was designed by John Eisemann, architect, whos explained the symbolism of the flag as follows:

"The triangle formed by the main lines of the flag represents the hills and valleys, as typified in the State Seal, and the stripes the roads and waterways. The stars, indicating the thirteen original states of the Union are grouped about the circle which represents the Northwest Territory, and that Ohio was the seventeenth state admitted to the Union is shown by adding four more stars. The white circle with its red center, not only represents the initial letter of Ohio, but is suggestive of its being the "Buckeye State."

Ohio Admitted to the Union

Ohio was admitted to the Union on March 1, 1803.

State Animal

The Ohio Legislature adopted the white-tailed deer as the state animal in May 1988. The white-tailed deer is the state's largest game animal and can be found in all of Ohio's 88 counties.

State Bird

Ohio adopted the cardinal as its official bird in 1933. A permanent resident of Ohio, the cardinal is known for its clear, strong song and brilliant red plumage.

State Insect

In June 1975, the Ohio legislature declared the common ladybug, officially named the Ladybird Beetle, as the state insect. Indigenous to Ohio, the ladybug is a favorite of children and adults because of its beauty and its helpful instinct to eat other insects that can be harmful to crops and flowers.

State Song

"Beautiful Ohio" became the state song in 1969. Mary Earl composed the music, and Ballard McDonald wrote the original lyrics. In 1989, the Ohio legislature adopted an amendment to change the words to the song. The new lyrics are the work of Youngstown attorney Wilbert McBride.

State Rock Song

"Hang on Sloopy," a favorite of The Ohio State University Marching Band, became the state rock song in 1985. Composed by Celina, Ohio-born guitarist Rick Derringer, it was first recorded by The McCoys, a rock band from Dayton, in 1965.

State Wildflower

Ohio's state wildflower, trillium grandiflorum, is commonly known as the large white trillium. The beautiful plant is found in all 88 counties in Ohio and was adopted as Ohio's state wildflower in 1987.

State Gemstone

Flint, the state gemstone since 1965, is a smooth hard rock of sedimentary origin. Native Americans used flint to make knives, spear points and arrowheads. Later, Ohio settlers used it for flintlock guns and millstones.

State Fossil

Adopted in 1985, Ohio's state fossil is the isotelus, commonly known as the trilobite. This extinct sea creature existed in Ohio 440 million years ago when salt water covered the state. It was about 14 inches long and resembled the modern horseshoe crab. The largest trilobite fossil was discovered in the Dayton area in 1919.

State Flower

The red carnation was adopted as Ohio's state flower in 1904 in memory of President William McKinley, who always wore a red carnation in his lapel.

State Tree

The buckeye tree was adopted in 1853 as the state tree. Native to Ohio, it gives the state its nickname, "the Buckeye State." Native Americans compared its likeness with the eye of a buck deer.

State Beverage

Tomato juice was adopted as the state beverage in 1965. Ohio leads the country in the production of tomato juice and is second only to California in tomato growing.

State Reptile

In 1995, the General Assembly named the black racer snake as Ohio's official reptile. The black racer snake was adopted because it is native to all 88 Ohio counties and is called the "farmer's friend," because it eats disease-carrying rodents.

State Fruit

Ohio is the nation's fifth-largest producer of tomatoes. The tomato (Lycopersicon esculentus) became the official state fruit in 2009.

State Native Fruit

The pawpaw (Asimina triloba) is North America's largest native tree fruit and its trees are found throughout all of Ohio. An annual festival in Athens County is devoted to the pawpaw, which was named the state native fruit in 2009.

(a) The Democratic Party of today claims lineal descent from the first Republican Party, with President Jefferson as its founder. Authorities differ as to the date when the party dropped the name Republican and assumed that of Democratic, it being ascribed to various dates between 1805 and 1820.

(b) Political parties were organized at the time of the election of John Q. Adams. He claimed to be a Republican, as Jefferson, but his doctrines were decidedly Federalist. The opposition to this administration took the name of Democratic, and elected Andrew Jackson as President in 1828.

(c) Died April 4, 1841.

(d) Died July 9, 1850.

(e) Died April 15, 1865.

(f) Died September 19, 1881.

(g) Died September 14, 1901.

(h) Died August 2, 1923.

(i) Prior to 1937, the terms of President and Vice President of the United States began and ended at noon on March 4. However, the 20th amendment to the U.S. Constitution now provides such term shall begin and end on January 20.

(j) Died April 12, 1945.

(k) Died November 22, 1963.

(l) Vice President Spiro T. Agnew resigned Oct. 10, 1973. His successor was Gerald R. Ford, sworn in December 6, 1973. Mr. Ford was the first Vice President nominated by the President and confirmed by Congress, pursuant to the 25th amendment to the Constitution of the United States. President Nixon resigned August 9, 1974.

(m) Vice President Gerald R. Ford was sworn in as President on August 9, 1974. Mr. Rockefeller was nominated by the President and confirmed by the Congress in December 1974, pursuant to the 25th amendment to the Constitution of the United States.
